Will Rogers
Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It's about time somebody gave a real endurance test some credit. This foot race to New York, and a 20-year-old kid from Claremore, Okla., leading it. It's all right to kid and call it bunion derby, but no athlete in any other branch of sport could get up every day for three straight months and run from forty to seventy miles. Sporting writers write pages over some football player's 70-yard run, or champion prize fighters can only fight thirty minutes every two years. There is not a golf player in America who could have stood this same trip in an automobile. You will find it's the grit and the heart that's doing this more than bunnions or ingrowing toenails, so be fair and give 'em a break.

Yours from Claremore, WILL ROGERS.

Secretary Goes Fishing
Far from Telephone Call
Still Silent on Politics

WILLIAMSPORT (Pa.) May 14.—[Exclusive.]—The world of politics, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and candidate for Republican nomination for President, spent today idling along the streams of Clear Lake, near the estate of Jay Cooke III, of Philadelphia.

Politics was forgotten in the enjoyment of the splendid fishing facilities and perfect weather conditions, with no telephone within several miles of the lodge and two miles of privately owned highway leading to the public and press at a respectful distance.

Hoover seemed to have achieved his goal of a few days of rest and recreation. A representative of the Associated Press, the only newspaper man to penetrate his seclusion, found him happy and pleasant, but firmly discouraging any attempt to discuss politics to the front.

Only Mr. Cooke, a few close friends and Mr. Hoover's secretary, Lawrence Ritchey, have accompanied the Secretary of Commerce to the Cooke Lodge, created by Jay Cooke, grandfather of the present owner, about fifty years ago, is about twenty-five miles from the city of Clear Lake, on the mountain side of the British Parliament, was announced today.

Nationalists Will Gather
Today for Defining of Policy in Crisis

TSING-TAO (China) May 14.—[Exclusive.]—Japanese authorities at Tsing-tao said today they saw no immediate prospect of negotiations with the Chinese over the Tsinan question, believing there is no responsible Chinese authority with whom a settlement can be discussed.

They also declared the additional Japanese troops which will arrive about the 17th inst., are needed to protect the railway running from Tsing-tao to Tsinan in order to maintain without question communication between the two cities.

The northernmost army still in control of Tsing-tao, but in view of reports that the Nationalists are steadily nearing Tien-tsin, important port in the Province of Chihli, the troops in Tsing-tao are said to be restless.

Conditions are reported quiet at Tsinan where the Japanese are in control of the situation and several Americans who came to Tsing-tao from the Shanghai capital when the Nationalists invaded that city, are now planning to return there.

NATIONALISTS WILL DECIDE
POLICY DURING CRISIS
[Copyright, 1928, by Chicago Tribune.]
SHANGHAI, May 14.—[Exclusive.]—The Nationalist government has called an extraordinary conference for tomorrow which will be participated in by all high civilian and military officials including Gen. Chiang Kai-shek for the purpose of considering the China-Japanese situation in Shanghai province. Also a Nationalist policy regarding what the Chinese generally consider the most serious crisis in China-Japanese relations since the presentation of the Japanese demands in 1915, will be formulated.

Since the presentation of the Japanese demands, the ultimatum of the afternoon of the 7th inst., "demanding" punishment of high Nationalist officials, and claiming of Nationalist troops involved in the China-Japanese clash, the Japanese have made no further move, except unofficial indications that Japan intends to hold and operate the Shanghai Railway plus the cities of Tsing-tao and Tsinan, pending a settlement of the incident satisfactory to Japan.

QUIT NEUTRAL ZONE
The Chinese on the other hand have withdrawn all the Nationalist troops from the so-called neutral zone of seven miles around Tsinan and along the railway and today announce the dismissal of Gen. Ho Yao-tai, commander of the Third Army Corps, whose troops first entered Tsinan and as a consequence were involved in the clash with the Japanese.

Nationalist government officials here today stated that the dismissal of Gen. Ho is due to his violation of Gen. Chiang's orders against entering the city of Tsinan, when he should have proceeded directly to the front.

Further than these moves the Nationalist government has not yet taken any steps to comply with the Japanese demands, but at the same time China has appealed to the League of Nations and President Coolidge against the so-called Japanese aggression in violation of the Washington conference treaties.

AIR PILOT BATTLES MANIAC
TEN FEARED DROWNED IN FISHING TRIP

Flyer Attacked in Clouds by Insane Passenger
Narrowly Escapes Death in Crash

PONTIAC (Mich.) May 14.—[Exclusive.]—Attacked with a hammer 2000 feet in the air by an asserted maniac, Harry Anderson, a commercial pilot, after losing consciousness and nose-diving to within 100 feet of the ground, recovered in time to partially right his airplane and avert destruction here tonight.

Harry Frechette, 28 years of age, of Detroit, whom police believe to be deranged, is charged with attacking the pilot, after employing him to fly from Roseville, Mich., to Pontiac.

BOTH IN HOSPITAL
Both men were taken to a local hospital because of injuries suffered in the forced landing. Neither was seriously hurt and as soon as Frechette recovered sufficiently he will be removed to jail for a sanity test, officials said.

Anderson told police that as they approached Pontiac he became convinced that Frechette was a maniac and began to hammer him with a hammer and began to labor him.

"I must have been unconscious for some time, probably more than a minute," Anderson said, "for when I came to, we were headed in a nose dive. I jerked the controls and tried to right the plane and managed to slow its pace. Just as I was swinging out of the dive, I felt the wheels of the undercarriage touch the ground for some distance and then the ship went over on its nose."

PLANE DEMOLISHED
The plane was completely demolished but the occupants miraculously escaped serious injury. Anderson was more severely hurt by the hammer attack than in the wreck. One blow had knocked out most of his teeth, and because of the difficulty with which he was able to talk, hospital officials refused to permit his being questioned at length.

Frechette refused to answer police when queried regarding the attack. A letter addressed to a Miss Georgia Pardee of Pontiac, found in his clothing, read:

"Death is my message, sweetheart. The letter, besides, contained terms of endearment to the addresser, so said the writer feared the approach of death."

Other letters, one to his mother in Detroit, indicated he had been employed by the Pacific Coast Aero Circus as an exhibition pilot.

to be Instituted by Trade Commission

WASHINGTON, May 14.—[Exclusive.]—The Federal Trade Commission has decided to resort to court action to enforce its order against the Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation calling on that concern to cease its block-booking practice of distributing films.

The commission announced today action after nearly ten months' delay, during which time motion-picture corporations filed two letters of compliance to the order which first embraced asserted copyright and asserted intimidation of motion-picture exhibitors. Last week the commission announced the corporation had complied with all phases of the order except that of block booking.

Although the commission did not announce when or where the court action will be sought, it was indicated that the petition will be filed in a Federal court in New York.

SANDINISTAS TAKE SAVAGE
REVENGE ON AMERICAN

Planter's Wife Brutally Tortured and Ranch Razed to Punish Informant of Marines

MANAGUA (Nicaragua) May 14.—[Exclusive.]—A rebel band terribly mistreated the wife of an American named Miller at his plantation on the River Coco, near the East Coast, in revenge for information he had given the marine forces. It was learned from belated dispatches reaching here today. Miller was away from home when the rebels came to seek him. They attacked and tortured Mrs. Miller, carried off everything of value and then generally wrecked the plantation. So atrocious were the acts committed against the wife and property of Miller that the entire lower river district was incensed at the savagery of the rebels. It is not known whether Mrs. Miller also is an American.

The rebel band first appeared on the Coco River at Sang Sang in the middle of April. They began general pillaging of villages. They took all merchandise and $500 from the store of Abraham Martinez, and from the store of Jose Ileset, a Cuban, they took merchandise valued at more than $2000, beside his cattle and a gasoline boat.

The smaller merchants also were raided and their supplies, boats and everything of value taken. The rebels seized all river craft on learning that the marines were planning to ascend the Coco River to cut them off from supplies in that district. They kept for some time men and boats at important points along the river and it was one of these outposts that learned that Miller was reported to have given the marines valuable information on the rebel movements.

After one of the most difficult trips probably ever recorded in the history of the Marine Corps, American marines have arrived at the American-owned La Lusa mine, recently raided and damaged by rebels. The insurgents fled before the marines arrived.

NO WORD OF MARSHALL
The marines sent no word to headquarters of having learned anything of the whereabouts of George R. Marshall of New York, assistant manager of the mine, who has been missing since the rebel raid. It was believed that with the marines in control an effort would be made by the mine owners to reopen it.

It took the marines several days to pole their boats up the swift and treacherous Frijoles River. The swift current forced them to abandon their cars and they were forced to use poles eighteen and twenty feet long.

With the political campaign in connection with the national elections becoming more intense the marines have established patrols in several cities.

NEW YORK, May 14.—[Exclusive.]—A transcontinental air and rail system has been formed, it was learned here today, in which the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Atchafalaya, the Santa Fe, the National Air Transport Company, the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, and the Western Air Express Corporation have joined forces whereby passengers leaving New York will be in Los Angeles on the evening of the second day.

From Los Angeles the service is to be extended to San Francisco and Seattle. The tentative schedule which has been worked out calls for the passenger to go aboard a limited train at the Pennsylvania station in New York at 6 o'clock at night. The next morning at Columbus, Ind., he will go aboard a multi-motored fourteen-passenger airplane, built for a cruising speed of more than 160 miles an hour.

At Wichita, Kan., he will leave the plane and go aboard a west-bound limited of the Santa Fe and through the night he will travel on the bus line to Los Angeles. The passenger will arrive in Los Angeles at 10 o'clock in the morning. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the big air transport will leave him on the Los Angeles airport.

NEW YORK, May 14.—[Exclusive.]—Gov. Smith and twelve other schemers renewed their oath of office tonight at the celebration of the 139th anniversary of the Society of Tammany.

The Governor arrived late. He was greeted outside the hall by 1000 persons, and inside the wigwam 1500 more gave him an ovation, which included cries of "Hurray for the President."

The celebration tonight was the last birthday party in the historic Tammany Hall on Fourteenth street, opened in 1868.

NEW YORK, May 14.—[Exclusive.]—The loss of jewels valued at $100,000, which she said she left in an overnight bag in a taxicab, was reported to police tonight by Mrs. Alfred H. Chapin, Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. Chapin, accompanied by her 2-year-old son, Kay, and a nurse, arrived at the Grand Central Station last afternoon, entered a taxicab and were driven to the Ambassador. As she entered the hotel she said she remembered she had left an overnight case in the cab, which had driven away when a hotel detective went out to hail the vehicle.

TAX KNIFE CUTS AT NEW MELON

Individual Income Payers Get Prospective Slices

Senate Whacks Downward at $20,000-$80,000 Range

Total Slash $24,000,000 Over Coolidge Limit

WASHINGTON, May 14. (P)—Individual income taxpayers were given a prospective $24,000,000 slice of the pending $200,000,000 tax-reduction melon today when the Senate voted a downward revision of the surtax rate applying to incomes between $20,000 and $80,000.

An attempt by the Republicans, however, to have the reduction apply retroactively on incomes of last year on which taxes are paid this year was rejected, 54 to 28, as the Senate Republican independent broke from the ranks to join the solid Democratic line-up in opposition.

Both propositions are subject to final vote on passage and the changes must be accepted by the House.

DAY SPENT IN ARGUMENT

Republicans and Democrats favored a downward revision of the surtax rate, which was ignored by the House, but all was spent in arguing as to how it was to be effected. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, proposed to accomplish the revision of the surtax rate beginning with $10,000 incomes and going up to $70,000, but Republicans lined up solidly for the proposal of Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the committee, which would have the lower rates begin with the $20,000 class. The vote on this proposition was 43 to 39, only three of Maryland, leaving the Democrats.

Senator Simmons and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, and Walsh of Massachusetts, led the Democratic fight, insisting greater attention be given to taxpayers with the smaller incomes. Senator Smoot and Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, answered that this class had received the main benefits

P-I-LINE NAME DELAYS TRIAL

Bay City Court Clerk's Tongue Backfires on Cognomen of Plaintiff

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. (Exclusive)—Lyle Morris, clerk of Federal Judge Kerrigan's court, picked up his volume of cases pending today and began to read to the court the fact that the next case at bar was that of Dampkibbesekabet Orient Aktieselskab vs. the United States.

He wet his tongue, whistled, crooned, yodeled, stammered, made another start, coughed, choked, gasped and ended dismally in an unintelligible backfire after the first syllable.

"Well this case is called for trial, anyway," he concluded. "The United States is a party to it. I'm sure of that much."

"Perhaps we'd better continue it for a week," suggested the court.

from pas' reductions at the expense of the taxpayers in the upper brackets of income. They declared the only purpose of any surtax revision is to equalize the rates applying on the intermediate incomes above $20,000 with cuts given other classes in the past.

TOTAL CUT $24,000,000

Today's action virtually completed consideration of the changes made by the Finance Committee in the House bill, but a batch of amendments proposed by individual members to various sections of the bill remain to be acted upon in addition to the row over the inheritance tax, which probably will come up tomorrow in an attempt to have it repealed.

With the rate schedules virtually disposed of, the Senate tonight itself with a $24,000,000 reduction measure on its hands. This is $24,000,000 above the limit set by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon, but far below the $290,000,000 House bill.

Republicans put through their program intact in the Senate except on two propositions. On one, Senator Smoot will have another vote. This proposal was the graduated rate of tax on corporations with small incomes. It was approved, 40 to 38, and it was this proposition which added $24,000,000 to the total cut.

Republicans accepted, however, their defeat on the attempt to give a $25,000,000 refund to surtax payers through a retroactive reduction of the surtax rates voted today.

All-Year Road to Yellowstone Given Impetus

REDDING, May 14. (P)—The movement for an all-year highway from California to Yellowstone National Park by way of Boise, Idaho, was given impetus at a banquet here tonight. Tomorrow a large caravan will start over the proposed route in an endeavor to enlist support.

More than 800 attended the dinner and every county in Northern California was represented, others were present from Nevada and Idaho and will join the caravan.

Starting from here at 7 a.m. tomorrow, the caravan will stop at Susanville, Alturas, Lakeview, Or., Bend, Or., Boise, Idaho, and other points en route to the park.

NEW YORK BROKERS GIVEN SUSPENSIONS

NEW YORK, May 14. (P)—As an aftermath of Federal Attorney Tuttle's investigation of the Broadway tickler brokerage business a year ago, twenty-four brokers were given suspended sentences of six months each today. Fines of $1000 to $5000, totaling $127,000, were imposed upon individuals and corporations.

Abandonment of the two-thirds rule at the national convention was recommended. Only a few dissenting votes were heard when the resolution was introduced instructing the State's delegation for Gov. Smith, Ex-Governor Ross was present and received a unanimous ovation, as did mention of the name of Senator Kendrick.

The Republican record was painted in an uncompromisingly black keynote address by J. C. O'Mahoney, Cheyenne attorney.

RAIN IMPEDES REPUBLICAN GATHERING

THERMOPOLIS (Wyo.) May 14. (P)—The Republican State convention here today almost had to be "called on account of rain." Heavy rains and windstorms throughout the State made the roads in certain sections impassable. When the convention did get under way, it was three hours late, and fifty of the 260 delegates were straggled.

Aside from the action of the elements, the conduct of the convention was expected to be tranquil. The vote at the various county caucuses led to the belief that the State's delegation of nine to the national convention at Kansas City would be uninstructed.

Dr. Stresemann's Illness Serious

BERLIN, May 14. (P)—The indisposition of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, Foreign Secretary, which was originally reported as of a slight nature, has developed into a severe ailment, and kidney complaint. The Secretary is confined to his bed and has been obliged to cancel all his scheduled election speeches.

It is rumored Dr. Stresemann on one of his recent trips contracted pyramine poisoning.

A bulletin issued tonight said, "Dr. Stresemann is seriously stricken by feverish paratyphus, like stomach and intestinal catarrh, complicated by an affection of the kidneys demanding extreme care and strict confinement to his bed."

It was signed by his three physicians, Zondek, Giesevis and Schulman.

AIRWAY SAFETY PLAN EXPLAINED

Weather Data to be Flashed to Passing Pilots

Signal Stations Planned Along Routes

Bureau Agent at Bay City to Organize Service

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. (Exclusive)—Details of protective measures for pilots on western air lanes were announced here today by D. W. Little upon his arrival to establish headquarters for a newly created airway division of the United States Weather Bureau. The division has been authorized by the Department of Commerce.

Basically, the service is designed to provide aviators with the latest weather data and general atmospheric conditions.

In addition to guide beacons already established or in process of establishment, plans provide for the assembling of weather data in thirty-five cities and towns between Seattle and San Diego. They will be known as control stations and will concentrate their information in San Francisco, from which point it will be furnished flyers at various signal points and by various forms of signaling.

PANEL STATIONS

So-called "panel stations" are to be established at Livermore and Redding. By means of a code signal system on the ground, aviators passing over Livermore en route into the Bay District from the south will be apprised of the latest conditions at Oakland airport, Concord, Millbrae and Crissy fields and will be in a position to select the best for a landing. In the event conditions are extremely bad, they can land at Livermore and await more favorable opportunities.

Similar signals will be provided at Redding for northbound planes. Medford, Or., and Bend, Ore., will be known as "flag stops," where southbound planes can be halted if conditions over the mountains are too hazardous for safe flying.

HAZARDOUS ROUTE

Mail planes, it was said, will push on at all times except when it is considered foolhardy to continue. The information to be gathered will be furnished them as a precaution, but its greatest effect will be on planes carrying passengers, the idea being to prevent accidents where a pilot's life may be the penalty for not heeding.

Mr. Little called attention to the fact that between Los Angeles and Seattle a plane "crosses the Alps" four different times and that the lowest of the west coast's four ranges is as high as the highest between Chicago and New York.

"For this reason," he said, "the establishment of the service will be of great benefit to Pacific Coast airways, which are considered among the most hazardous in the United States."

SMITH GIVEN WYOMING'S DELEGATES

Nellie Ross Indorsed for Vice-President at State Democratic Convention

CASPER (Wyo.) May 14. (P)—Gov. Smith of New York was indorsed for the Presidency and Wyoming's delegation was instructed to cast its six votes for him at the national convention in Houston by the State Democratic convention here today.

Nellie Taylor Ross, first woman Governor of Wyoming, was indorsed for Vice-President by a six-plurality vote and the convention indorsed her past administration.

The record of Senator Kendrick of Wyoming also was praised.

Abandonment of the two-thirds rule at the national convention was recommended. Only a few dissenting votes were heard when the resolution was introduced instructing the State's delegation for Gov. Smith, Ex-Governor Ross was present and received a unanimous ovation, as did mention of the name of Senator Kendrick.

LOWDEN DENIES DAWES SCHEME

"Stalking Horse" Rumors Flatly Refuted

Campaign Expenditure Held Under $60,000

Senators Warned Factions May Hurt Party

WASHINGTON, May 14. (P)—Placing expenditures on his behalf at less than $60,000, Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, declared today before the Senate campaign investigators that there is no basis for the widespread opinion that he will throw his support to the "stalking horse" scheme in the event he cannot be nominated at Kansas City.

After questioning Lowden for an hour, the Senate committee concluded the hearing of the Presidential candidates by receiving from Senator James E. Watson of Indiana the statement that his own personal expenses in the campaign in his State, which culminated in his defeat of Herbert Hoover in the presidential primary, have been $2880.90.

DETAILS LACKING

Like former Gov. Lowden, Watson could not give details of campaign financing. Lowden referred the inquiries to Clarence F. Buck, Republican State Senator, who is the directing head of his national organization, while Watson said the treasurer of his organization, Herbert Hoover, would give details of receipts and expenditures. Both will be called later.

Lowden, who displayed hearty good humor throughout, reminded his interrogators with respect to Dawes that every one knew they were old-time friends and that he would throw his support to the Vice-President.

DENIES DAWES FACT

Asserting he had no agreement with any other candidate for delegate support from them and repudiating statements that he had not discussed the matter of supporting Dawes "even remotely," the former Governor said:

"I've given no pledge and I have no right to barter away or deal with reference to delegates who look on me as representing that cause."

He said the future of the Republican party depends upon maintaining the old alliance between industry and agriculture.

MAKES ESTIMATE

Explaining that Buck had told him only last Friday that total collection of his campaign had been $64,700, Lowden said he believed this would be sufficient to finish out the campaign.

He said that $60,000 of the $64,700 had been spent from national headquarters but added there was a small volunteer organization working for him in New York.

"I have no doubt that I have deliberately stayed out of the favorite son States, Lowden said he had done so because he thought it better to let the campaign be conducted by the Republican candidate in November.

"My policy was not to set up organizations in any State," he said, "unless the Republicans in that State were sufficiently aggressive for me so that they would go ahead and conduct the campaign."

"I have no objection to the Republicans having a real fight this fall. And, feeling that way, I made up my mind that I would not do anything to hinder them."

AUTO SOON MAY BE TEA WAGON

Englishman Invents Car With Reversible Seats, Table and Rear Door

NEW YORK, May 14. (Exclusive)—"Step into my automobile and have a cup of tea?"

This will be the proper salutation when an automobilist meets a friend on walking, should the invention of E. Peter Jones, English inventor and steel man, who arrived today on the Cunarder Samaria, attain popularity here.

Jones brought with him an automobile body which has a reversible seat, rear windows, a rear entrance and a collapsible tea table. He pointed out that by merely reversing the seat passengers may achieve an observation car and may have tea, play bridge or even eat luncheon while surveying the scenery.

Neal Clisby and Mack House Clash in Ten-Round Main Event at Olympic this Evening

KNOCKOUT LURE TO DRAW FANS

Expect Early Ending to Bout Between Heavies

Clisby Has Two Victories Over Ring Foe

Both Fighters Pack Punch of Dynamite

BY KAY OWE

With the lure of a knockout and a local natural the Olympic will probably play to one of its best indoor crowds of the year tonight.

Neal Clisby and Mack House make that rare combination which promoters are always hunting and seldom find. The fact that you can't get a bet the bout will go the distance makes it all the more unusual and interesting.

These two titans are the "black Berenbachs" of the ring. They put all they own on every punch and it is usually enough for a knockout.

When Berenbach was at his height he knocked out men after man in a punch. He made a fortune of close to $500,000 for himself and probably more than that for Tex Rickard who promoted most of his fights.

Clisby either Clisby or House turn while he would be the ring's biggest sensation on hitting power alone. But the way of a black fighter is much harder than that of the white man.

But House and Clisby are more than terrific hitters. They are very fast for his fellows and have the natural instinct of boxers that Jack Johnson and Sam Langford had before them.

Clisby once tried his stuff against George Godfrey and was getting the better of the battle until Godfrey elbowed him down with chops to the neck. Not even Godfrey could find Clisby's jaw for a telling blow.

HOUSE MORE DYNAMIC

House is the more dynamic of the two. His record even looks better on paper except for the two kayos which Clisby put on the record.

There is no way of figuring how Clisby has twice toppled House. One knockout might be a fluke, but two are more convincing.

House has knocked out several very fast heavyweights whom Clisby has been unable to stop. This is just another odd angle on heavyweights while others are quiet.

The two black heavies will weigh practically pound for pound tonight. For their last bout each scaled 183 pounds. Both may be a couple pounds lighter for this match.

Walton Burns has spent considerable time in training House. He has tried to develop the muscles in House's neck just as he did Johnson back in 1900.

Both men stand at the same height—5 ft. 10 1/2 in. House is a little more compactly built about the chest. But they taper to the same measurements about the waist—thirty-three inches.

HAS MATCHES IN LINE

Mike O'Garra, who recently bought Clisby's contract from Tom Jones, believes he will make a fortune with his black fighter. Clisby has tentatively accepted three matches in Philadelphia. House was slated to box in Madison Square Garden just before Clisby stopped him.

Billy Blake and Jimmy Lundy are paired in the semi-wind-up at 140 pounds. They are very evenly matched.

Lundy knocked out Frankie Tondor last week in his first start in the Olympic. Blake has twice beaten Charlie Cobb in close fights in his last two matches.

Louis Bloom and Johnny Gonzales meet in the special. The two are Al Keady vs. Ray Chandler and Dick McDaniel vs. Joe Pimental.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

SEVERAL weeks ago a young relative from Georgia blew into our fair city for a twenty-four-hour stopover and we took him out to the Coliseum to see the track meet between Stanford and the University of Southern California.

When they started the pole vault at twelve feet he nearly fell off the grandstand with amazement, and when we suggested that Bud Spencer would run the 440 in somewhere around forty-nine seconds or better he gave us a look which indicated that only reverence for old age and a native politeness prevented him from making a few remarks about our veracity.

However, after watching the long-legged Stanford captain lunge through the 440 in 43.5 without apparently ever getting out of a nice easy stride the gentleman from Georgia ran up and remarked (we can indicate the accent): "Well, if that's the way he runs when he's running the quarter in 43.5 I can't see why he's not ought to be running it in 47 if he really wanted to try."

The young gentleman from Georgia returned last week-end to the mind of some. Too bad we didn't think of the prediction in time to run it before Spencer made it come true.

Walter Hagen's well-known and much advertised imperturbability was never given a more thorough display than in his surprising recovery from what was probably the world's worst flaking to capture the British open golf championship.

After the manner in which he was dubbed by Compton in their celebrated duel Hagen's chances of winning the British were scarcely rosy hued, but the chilled nerves that have carried him through enough sensational victories to rank him as the greatest match player of all time demonstrated their presence in no uncertain style.

The first annual sportsman's dinner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, over which Will Rogers is to preside, promises to be a howling success and deservedly so. The younger members of the C. of C. are always hustling and working for the best interests of sports and the fact that they have arranged for a banquet with no expense ought to popularize it regardless of the price. Their management of the $10,000 open golf tournament has been a big success in the past and this dinner promises to give them sufficient funds to expand their activities to other sports.

HUNTER COPS MEDAL WITH 137 IN "PRO" TOURNAMENT

WEE WILLIE HUNTER, canny Scotch shot-maker, showed the way to his paid-to-play brothers in the opening of the Southern California Golf Association's qualifying round yesterday at the Fox Hills Country Club.

Hunter had 137 for his first thirty-six holes, which is by far the best golf turned in on the Fox Hills course in some time. Big Ed Dudley tied second with 143, and Tom Stevens, third with 143.

WEE WILLIE had a 70 for his first eighteen holes in the morning and a 73 for his second eighteen holes. Dudley had a 73 for his morning round and Big Ed returned in the afternoon with 73 strokes under his first eighteen holes. Stevens had a 72 in the morning and a 71 in the afternoon. Olin Dutra and Al Cameron tied for fourth place with 144.

There were several surprises during the day's play. Harry Prosser, Jack Tarrant and Fred Morrison furnished the justifying under the wire to qualify. Prosser was tied for seventh with Jim Castello, Chet Beer and Charles Chung. Chinese golfer, with 146, Tarrant likewise was tied with three other players for eighth place with 148. Fred Morrison and Larry Kelly were the last two golfers to make the grade with 149 cards.

Anderson and Willis signed by Olympic

Matchmaker Hayden Wedemans of the Olympic Auditorium yesterday announced that he had signed Joe Anderson and Jack Willis to fight the main event at the big downtown arena, the 25th inst.

Anderson has been at his home in Covington, Ky., since his fight here last February, with Phil Krug. He injured his hand in that bout and has been on the disabled list ever since.

He is quite a favorite here, having fought Leo Lomax in a sensational bout here a year ago before the Aberdeen boy outgrew the middleweight division. Anderson, also named Bert Collins and a son of Mickey Walker's most outstanding challengers.

Wedemans announced that so far he has signed no match to take the place of the Rene DeVos-Collins bout set for next week, which went kaffey when Collins was suspended for fouling.

Kennedy is Proud Papa

Tom Kennedy has a new heavyweight hope. He arrived at the Kennedy home, 1458 North Kings Road, at 12:30 Sunday night and was immediately christened John Marshall Kennedy. Father Kennedy modestly announced yesterday that the new hope weighs twelve and one-half pounds on the hook, shot 5 feet. The youngster's father is a celebrity in local sporting circles. He is a former heavyweight pugilist and for several years was matchmaker at the Hollywood Legion Stadium. He stars in the movies now and is manager of Russell Walters, a promising young heavyweight. However, Tom says John Marshall Kennedy is the boy who will cut the mustard in 1938.

With more than 100 boys participating and the stands filled with cheering rosters, the Long Beach meet was a stirring affair, which was run off without a hitch and the large number of contestants.

The meet was in charge of Charles H. Hunt, H. E. Pennwell and Clyde Doyle. The following qualified for the county finals on the 26th inst.:

The Angels' batsmen did the rest of the work, with three home runs and several other hits. The Mission Bells' pitcher, Art Weir, was also good, but he was out of luck in the ninth inning. The game was a great one for the Angels, and it showed that they are now a team to be feared.

Thomas Bow, who has been a star for the Los Angeles Angels, was hit hard by the slugging power of the Boston Braves. Bow, who had been pitching well for some time, was out of luck in the ninth inning. The Braves' batsmen did the rest of the work, with three home runs and several other hits. The game was a great one for the Braves, and it showed that they are now a team to be feared.

New Handball Champions at Santa Monica

Dr. Leo Fogel and Ed Gillette were crowned doubles handball champions of the Santa Monica Athletic Club yesterday afternoon after they had waded through a field of twenty entries without suffering one defeat. A. Arvion and his partner, James Irvine, won the honors in the Class B division. Tonight the newly crowned champions will give a series of exhibition matches for members of the club and their guests. The ceremonies tonight will be called "handball night."

RABBIT PUNCHES

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA with the smallest team it has sent to the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet in four years figures to score more points than last year when it placed fourth with 23 and nearly as many as in 1926 when the Trojans captured the title with 35½ points. And yet in spite of the admitted class of the chosen sons of Troy they hardly can be reckoned as dangerous contenders after the redshirts from Stanford.

The Trojans should score approximately 30 points, more than enough to win many an I.C.A.A.A.A. meet in the past, but the Stanford team with its wonderful array of powerful performers in the field and with Capt. Spencer in the quarter and Nichols in the high hurdles is likely to score close to 45 points.

Of Southern California's eight-man team Borah and Draper, if they are in top form, will collect most of the local points. They might run one-two in both the short sprints, Payne is likely to win the low with Graham also in the money, Barnes is an even money bet to capture the pole vault, and Webber, Reynolds and Hill in the high hurdles and broad jump should pick up three or four points. That accounts for the thirty points.

Stanford has a team that should simply mop up in practically every field event. The northern boys could probably toss out the possibilities they have in the quarter and high hurdles and win the meet with what they score in the field. No team in the country has such an aggregation of one, two place men like Krenz and Rother in the shot, Zombro and Dyer in the broad, not to mention King in the high, Edmonds in the pole, Krens in the discus and Spaulding and Joquin in the javelin.

Spencer, while he failed to place in the 400 in the games last year, probably can capitalize on that experience this year, and certainly his remarkable 47s. 50 last week puts him in line to win at Cambridge. He is not of powerful build like the fellows who generally shoulder their way to victory in the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet, but if he has any kind of luck in the draw he can dash right out in front and stay there—and nobody is likely to come within sniffing distance of him. Nichols in the high hurdles has been running consistently and should do as well as last year when he placed third in 14.4-ss. with West fourth.

Mr. Lee Meriwether, the Coast League's meticulous statistician, has left a minute on my desk which seems to prove that my Oakland correspondent, Mr. Charles Williamson, must have been "seeing things" when he described a twenty-four-inning battle of August 5, 1910, which he filed in a scrap book. Mr. Meriwether offers considerable evidence to prove that Mr. Williamson is at all times with the weather or something else, and submits some as follows:

"Dear Mr. Lowry: Mr. Charles Y. Williamson's account of a twenty-four-inning ball game played between Portland and Oakland some eighteen years ago proved very interesting. Indeed, as our little dope book showed only two twenty-four inning games to be played in the Coast League in the past twenty-five years we were glad to be able to add a third. However, on looking over the musty files for the evidence we were surprised to find that Mr. Williamson had fudged by six innings in relating of the game played between Oakland and Portland on August 6, 1910.

The game in question was called on account of darkness without a player having crossed the plate in eighteen innings. "Ralph Willis, who had previously pitched for San Francisco, deserved the greatest honor for he pitched the entire eighteen innings. "Bols and Krapp did splendid work for Portland. Krapp's work was the most sensational for the innings he was on the slab. It was George Bole's initial appearance in the league and he made good. With runners on base Manager Walter McCredie battled for Bols in the ninth. It was the only substitution during the eighteen innings. "Perle Casey, present Coast League umpire, played second base for Portland, Harry Wolverton, Oakland third baseman, was one of the league's leading batsmen that season. His mark was 235. Buddy Ryan, manager of the Sacramento club this season, was another slugger and he had a mark of 242.

Following is the box score of that memorable contest of August 6, 1910:

Mr. Ray Davidson, who modestly admits he is a no plus ultra press agent because he can afford red letter heads on plain copy paper, suggests the picture of publicity should be turned on the $1000 a plate dinner sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Biltmore tomorrow night. Never having had one hundred heads to spend all at one time I can't be there, but nevertheless I'd be a good idea—the dinner. All of the money derived by the picture process of eating groceries and listening to Bill Rogers will be turned over to the Junior Chamber of Commerce's sport fund, which supports the annual $10,000 open golf tourney, winter sports at Lake Arrowhead and other athletic activities. All this benefits Southern California and deserves support of all loyal Southern Californians.

That House-Cleby battle at the Olympic tonight should be a wop and a rip. Cleby has won by knockouts twice and yet House is a harder hitter and a cleaner boxer. That is admitted by all those who have followed the fortunes of these two colored heavyweights.

Cleby was stopped by George Godfrey, but House's followers believe he has a chance to beat the "Black Shadow." And if House would reverse those two defeats hung up against him by Cleby he'll get that shot at Godfrey. At any rate the turnout tonight should be the best in weeks at the Olympic. Both men are terrific hitters, and either would murder Vito Doman or Tony Puente, who packed Hollywood the other night.

LUTZE, CANTONWINE READY

Rival Heavyweight Grapplers on Edge for Mat Bout at Olympic Tomorrow Night

Both Howard Cantonwine, the giant Iowan, and Miek Lutze of Chicago, who clash in a best two-out-of-three-fall finish mat battle at the Olympic tomorrow night, will wind up their training today. Lutze, who has been training at Venice, is in wonderful condition and tamed almost brown. Cantonwine's skin is white from indoor work, but he possesses enough ability, strength and speed to give Lutze or any other mat star the battle of his life.

Half of the Iowans in Long Beach are expected to be at the Olympic when this youngster, the greatest grappler ever reared in the big corn State, steps into the ring. The famous Iowa corn song is to be this delegation's cheer for this former college star.

For colorful work and love of action Cantonwine stands among the leaders. He comes from a wrestling family, born and bred on the plains of Iowa. His grandfather was a wrestler of note, while his father, Walter Cantonwine, wrestled four of the greatest maulers ever known, namely, Farmer Burns, Dan McClood, Fred Reel and Frank Getch. Howard is the third generation of wrestlers and appears to be headed higher up in the grappling world than any of his family before him.

Although only 27 years of age, Cantonwine is known as the American boy wonder with a thousand holds, three-quarters of them writhes. The older Cantonwine told Howard in long when he was 9 and taught him many tricks of the game. He was overseas during the war, where he won the A.E.F. championship in the middle, light-heavy and heavyweight divisions. He played left end on the University of Iowa football team in 1921-22. The following year he won the heavyweight championship of Iowa, a title he has successfully defended several times a year ever since.

His most recent achievements have been victories over Alex Garrawienko, Joe Mondt, Pat McCull, Wayne Munn and more than dozen other topnotchers. He has never been defeated two out of three falls by any American grappler, and he doesn't expect Nick Lutze to be the first. He has been going like wildfire during the last few months, and nothing seems to be able to stop him. When he returns to Iowa he expects to take the world's heavyweight title with him, for he has hopes of winning the elimination tournament promoter Lou Daro is conducting to get an opponent for Champion Ed Lewis, who defends his title here June 12.

Jim Browning meets Jack Washburn and Felix Lopez tackles Tex Wright in the other two bouts.

JUNIOR BALL LEAGUE TO START SATURDAY

The opening game of the American Legion's junior world series tournament will be played at Wrigley Field Saturday morning, according to Bert Mann, State athletic director.

Mann has fifty-five ball clubs entered from Los Angeles and expects more than 100 teams of youngsters from this city. The game will start at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and no admission will be charged.

The American Legion is sponsoring a nation-wide baseball tournament as part of its Americanization plan. Mann says there will be at least 10,000 baseball clubs in the tournament. Each State will stage its own play-off and then the sections will hold elimination tournaments.

AMONG the things I don't take much stock in are wizards. When I hear a man referred to as a wizard of finance I move my account to some bank in which he is not interested.

Mines and oil companies promoted by wizards have ceased to interest me because I already have my den papered with beautifully embossed stock certificates and couldn't possibly find room for another.

Back in 1913-1914 we hailed Connie Mack as the wizard of baseball because his Philadelphia Athletics had won two pennants in a row—and he hasn't won another one since.

Every time a pugilist gets called the wizard of the ring somebody steps up and knocks the wis out of him.

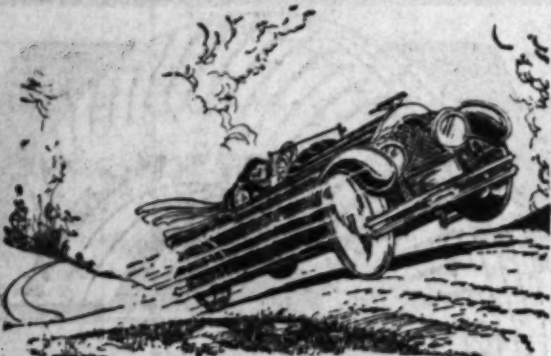

Where are the wizards of yesterday? Well, you'll find a lot of 'em in poorhouses and jails.

I've been looking 'em over for a good many years, and I find that it isn't the wizards but the steady, reliable workers who have done most of the really big jobs.

Whom the gods of big business would destroy they first call a wizard of Wall street. He thinks he's a wonder till he wakes up with his back to the wall and his home in the street.

Conference to Pass Today on Moral Resolutions

Laymen's Power in Churches Still Increasing

KANSAS CITY, May 14. (P)—Members of the Methodist Episcopal church were urged to give their support to newspapers which "deal fairly" with the prohibition movement in a resolution reported to the quadrennial general conference of the church here today by the committee on temperance, prohibition and public morals.

"We advise our members in subscribing for newspapers and in placing advertising to give their preference to those papers which deal fairly, both in their news and editorial columns, with the prohibition movement," the resolution said.

The conference probably will take action tomorrow.

Instruction in the public schools as to the "effect of alcohol on the human body and mind" was recommended, and church publications

FRENCH KNOW THEIR GROCERIES

Salt Weighing, Sugar Tying, Spice Handling and Many Other Accomplishments Bring Diplomas to "Epicures;" Degrees May Be Awarded Them Later

PARIS, May 14. (P)—Diplomas for knowing groceries are now being awarded by the French Ministry of Public Instruction.

Would-be grocer clerks are given examinations on weighing out salt, tying up sugar and handling spices, wines and other goods sold by the "epicure," the French equivalent for grocers. Standards are high, for out of sixty candidates only ten knew their groceries well enough to pass the first examination.

Diplomas are quite serious affairs, covered with notable signatures and decorated with red seals and ribbons. Ultimately, the school of technical instruction, which now vouches for the aptitude of the successful candidates, expects to have something equivalent to a grocer's degree, possibly "bachelor of groceries," certifying to complete knowledge of all the ideal grocer should know.

RENO DIVORCE RECORD GROWS

Twice as Many Granted in 1927 as in 1926

Reduction in Residence Requirement Cited

Marriages Increase Due to California Law

WASHINGTON, May 14. (P)—Reno, famous as a divorce center, was a much larger magnet for divorcing couples last year than it was in 1926.

The Commerce Department, reviewing marriage and divorce statistics for Nevada today, credited that State with 1983 divorces in 1927, an increase of 93 or 9.3 per cent over the previous year. Specific figures for Reno were not given, but Washoe county, in which it is located, was shown to have granted 1608 of the total, a gain of 947 or more than 100 per cent.

While no explanation was offered for the divorce increase, the department called attention to a modification of Nevada's residence requirement from six to three months.

Due largely to a change in California's marriage law requiring three days' notice to be given before the issuance of a license, the report said, 85.3 per cent more couples were joined in wedlock in Nevada last year than the year before. The total marriages were 2398, an increase of 1170. Washoe county's figures nearly trebled, showing 1833 marriages last year against 558 in 1926.

A total of thirty-eight marriages were annulled in the State in 1927 as compared with twenty in 1926. Washoe county accounted for thirty-six while Humboldt and White Pine had one each.

Ecuador People Flee in Terror From Temblor

GUAYAQUIL (Ecuador) May 14. (P)—Several buildings were damaged by a strong earthquake felt here at 8:04 p.m. today. The people ran from their houses and workshops in terror. The tremor lasted about ninety seconds.

The streets are littered in parts of the city with cornices and other portions of structures jarred loose by the quake.

DENVER, May 14. (P)—An earthquake, described as of unusual intensity, was recorded today on the seismograph of Regis College. The disturbance was noted at 3:25 p.m. and reached a maximum intensity at 3:35 p.m., after a group of minor tremors had been recorded for more than two hours. The direction of the quake from Denver could not be determined, but it was believed to have occurred on the North American continent.

LAYMEN PREPARED TO DEMAND RIGHTS

By Dan Brannan

KANSAS CITY, May 14. (Exclusive)—For more than 100 years the laymen of the Methodist Episcopal Church have asked equal rights with the preachers in the government of the church. Today the general conference began to abolish the last remaining inequality between the two groups. In the beginning, with John Wesley's example as guide, all authority was with the clergy and the laity were expected to take what was thought good for them. But before many years, with the help of the more progressive preachers, they began to ask for a share in the church's affairs.

The Methodist Protestant church was a secession of those who objected to the authority of the bishops and the ruling group. Just a century ago these protestants walked out and it took another generation to secure for the laymen in the mother church the first crumbs of concession from the preachers.

HOLD WHIP HAND

They can have everything they want now. It is only a question of method. They control the local church. They have the powerful purse and at times play it shrewdly. They have equal representation in the general conference. The one un-captured citadel is the annual conference. Every attempt to get it thus far has failed, but now they are either going to capture it or get something just as good.

The failure to win this last stronghold is not chargeable to ministerial obstinacy. The preachers are prepared to yield gracefully on the principle of lay rights. But some of them, with many of the laymen, think that the preacher also has a right or two to be respected.

The annual conference is to the Methodist minister what his fraternity is to the college student. He is willing that the laymen shall have a fraternity, too, but he thinks that can be arranged without having to open his own professional club to a procession of outsiders.

TWO PLANS OFFERED

Two plans are before the conference. One comes from the committee which deals with organization matters and proposes to put laymen directly into each annual conference on equal terms with the ministers. Only they will not be allowed to vote on the admission or qualifications of the ministers.

The other plan would create a separate lay conference, to meet at the same time and place as the ministerial conference, a sort of second house. The struggle thus becomes a contest between equal rights and identical rights. It is a pretty question, with many parallels in secular politics. Whatever the result of the debate, inevitable the laymen will come out of the fray with more power than ever. They now are the dominant order in the church.

HALF-MILLION GIFT

Arthur J. Baldwin, New York, announced the gift by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Phillips of a $500,000 to Broadway Temple. Dr. Christian F. Reiser's party complex skyscraper church project on upper Broadway, New York. This gift practically insures the completion of the church, which is one of three huge building enterprises combining religious and business uses recently put through by the Methodist, Chicago Temple and the new Central Church, San Francisco, are the others.

Rev. Ren Yen Lo of China, asked the conference to urge on President Coolidge the proffer of mediatory services between Japan and China in the Shantung affair, which, said Mr. Lo, might not only lead to war but involve other nations. All the Chinese delegates here are intense in their national feeling, though not in the least militaristic. On them and their fellow-Chinese at home has fallen the control of much of the religious work in China since the uprisings of last year.

Berkeley Plans to Dig in Asia

BERKELEY, May 14. (P)—Announcement that the University of California expects to participate in excavation of the ruins of some ancient Asiatic city during the fiscal year 1929-30 was made here today by Dr. H. F. Lutz, associate professor of Egyptology and Assyriology at the university, who will direct the work.

The excavations will be the first the university has undertaken in Asia. One expedition was sent to Peru a quarter of a century ago and other to Egypt.

Dr. Lutz announced his plans after receipt of word that he had been selected as the professor of archaeology to be sent to the American School of Archaeology at Baghdad, in Iraq, for the year 1928-29. One archaeologist is sent there from America annually.

STUDEBAKER'S

$795 ERSKINE SIX

Sets Ten New Records by Traveling

1000 miles in 984 minutes

proving ITS CHAMPIONSHIP STUDEBAKER HERITAGE

ON April 26, two strictly stock Erskine Club Sedans—exactly like those you can purchase from any Studebaker dealer—each traveled 1000 miles in less than 1000 consecutive minutes.

The run took place at Atlantic City Speedway, and was supervised by officials of the American Automobile Association who verified the stock design of the cars.

As a result, ten new records for stock cars under $1000 were established by the Erskine Six. And Studebaker has demonstrated that its 76-year-old traditions for careful building are carried through in the design, materials and workmanship of this low-priced fine car—named for Albert Russel Erskine, Studebaker's president.

Although sold at the lowest price at which any Studebaker-built car was ever offered ($795 f. o. b. factory), Studebaker has not permitted any compromise in the materials or workmanship entering into the Erskine Six. That is why this car was able to travel 1000 miles at better than a mile a minute—why you can drive your Erskine Six 40 miles an hour even when NEW—why the Erskine is so economical to maintain and to operate.

A few minutes behind the wheel of the New Erskine Six will introduce you to a type of performance as sensational for its price class as that of the World's Champion Commander is to the field of higher priced cars.

WOULD EXPAND OCEANIC RADIO

Applicants Make Request for Broader Plans

Federal Commission Hears Allocation Plea

Mackay System Declared Foe to Monopolists

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—Plans for the establishment and expansion of transoceanic radio service were presented today before the Federal Radio Commission by representatives of public communication companies and private services making application for short-wave bands.

The Radio Corporation of America requested allocations of 105 short-wave channels, many more than were asked by any of the other applicants. The need of these assignments was explained by a number of speakers for the corporation, among them Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, chief engineer, who said that foreign programs will be ready within a year if the facilities are made available.

With additional wave lengths for experimental use, he said, the Radio Corporation expects not only to relay the programs of other nations through its network of stations, but to make practical television possible. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, through its vice-president, Frank B. Jewett, asked for three or four more short waves to handle the company's service to England by radio telephone and for communication with Argentina, now contemplated.

OPPOSITION VOICED

Opposition to this program was voiced by Oswald Schuetzle of the Radio Protective Association, because, he declared, it is in restraint of commerce. He said the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is under contract to use only equipment supplied by the General Electric Company.

Additional facilities for radio telegraph were asked by Charles F. Hughes, Jr., representing the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company. Mantion Davis, attorney for the Radio Corporation of America, explained that navy experts have estimated the total number of short-wave bands available throughout the world at 710, a number far short of that required if allocations are made to those concerned seeking the waves for private communication. He said he expects applications will come from many newspapers, but he held this use is not of public importance, and that those who collect and disseminate news for profit should not be permitted to appropriate the channels for their exclusive use.

It is important that there be news, he said, "but it is not necessary to accomplish this result that the news agency shall go into the communications business."

PREFERENCE ASKED

Davis also asked that his corporation be preferred above the cable companies, urging that radio-to-point service in the United States shall be made possible in order to avoid radio being throttled by the wire lines companies in the interest of the cables they own.

Hughes responded by saying that the entrance of the Mackay telegraph system into the field of radio communication is the only obstacle to creation of a monopoly by the Radio Corporation of America.

Joseph Pierson, speaking for the American Publishers' Committee, an organization made up of about a dozen newspapers and press services, took exception to the views of the radio corporation that the news should be transmitted through commercial companies and not through the newspaper's own short-wave channels.

Terming the press "the only public utility specially protected by the Constitution," Pierson said that any plan which places news gathering under the control of another agency "places shackles on the freedom of the press."

Other concerns to make application for the high-frequency bands at the hearing were the Pacific Communication Company of San Francisco, the Tropical Radio and Telegraph Company, the Robert Dollar Company and the S. P. Radio Company, Inc.

House Passes Amended Bill for Farm Aid

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—The conference report on the McNary farm-relief bill was adopted today by the House, 305 to 117. Senate action still is necessary before it can be sent to the White House.

The report was adopted without debate except a brief explanation of the conference's changes by Chairman Haugen of the House Agriculture Committee. The Senate provision to exempt fruits and vegetables from the fee provisions inserted in the measure by the conference was the principal revision of the bill.

Congress May Adjourn June 1

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—After a meeting of House Republican leaders, Speaker Longworth said today that in his opinion Congress probably would adjourn about June 1.

He added that the conference had been for the purpose of discussing a prospective adjournment date and that it was impossible to say definitely just when that would take place.

Revenue Bureau Inquiry Backed

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—A favorable report on the La Follette resolution calling for an investigation of charges made by Senator Coughlin, Republican, Michigan, against the Internal Revenue Bureau was voted today by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

ST. LOUIS HAILS BREMEN FLYERS

Trans-Atlantic Pilots Greeted by 12,000 Persons

German Organizations of City Represented

Hop from Milwaukee Made in Three Hours

ST. LOUIS, May 14. (AP)—Thousands of St. Louisans, at Lambert-St. Louis Field and Forest Park, cheered the arrival late today of the trans-Atlantic Bremen flyers—Baron Ehrenfried Guenther von Huenfeld, Capt. Herman Koehl and Maj. James Fitzmaurice. They will be the city's guests two days.

In the Junkers monoplane F-13, sister ship of the Bremen, the two German flyers and their Irish companion covered the 350 miles from Milwaukee in 3h. 31m., arriving at Lambert Field at 4:33 p.m.

Approximately 2000 persons were at Lambert Field. A group representing German organizations was at the field to extend the first welcome to their countrymen.

After a few minutes' lively sociability the flyers were invited into biplanes and taken separately to Forest Park. A crowd of almost 10,000 was at the park where the flyers were extended an official welcome by Dr. George Ahrens, German Consul, Mayor Miller and other city officials.

JAPAN SENDING TROUT STOCK

Stanford University Planning to Introduce Ayn to State's Anglers

TOKIO, May 14. (AP)—Japan is sending to American anglers a gift of 10,000 native trout.

The shipment of ayn, or Japanese sweet trout, is to be sent to Stanford University at Palo Alto, Cal., but other points in the United States may receive some of them.

Some time ago Dr. David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of the university, who has lectured in Japan, expressed a desire to breed this variety of fish in the United States. Two shipments of eggs were sent to the university, but they failed to hatch out.

plane was caught fast in the mud when it landed at low tide on the Shubenacadie River near Maitland today, but was floated by the rising tide this afternoon and arrived here at 5:45 p.m.

The plane, carrying Maj. Gen. Fechet and pilot by Lieut. Elwood Quesada, is en route to the Straits of Belle Isle to aid in bringing out the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen. The amphibian, sister ship, carrying Fred Meichor, Junkers expert, and pilot by Capt. Ira Baker, landed fuelless in a pasture outside of Tatamagouche, N. S., today.

STATUS OF DAM BILL UP TODAY

House Rules Committee to Decide on Action

Members Believe Measure Will Get Preference

Gov. Hunt Issues Statement Attacking Lobby

WASHINGTON, May 14. (AP)—The House Rules Committee is expected to decide tomorrow whether the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon dam bill shall be called up in the House for action at this session.

A number of committee members privately have expressed the belief that the measure would be given preferred status, as the committee would not desire to assume the responsibility of blocking the legislation.

Senator Johnson of California, co-author of the Boulder dam bill, issued a statement today announcing that as soon as the Senate has disposed of the tax bill he would press his measure with a view to obtaining a final vote.

DENIES SATISFACTION
The statement was issued to deny reports that he would be satisfied with action to go over until the next session in the Senate if the House would pass the bill now.

"One day it was thought the Rules Committee would grant a rule in the House," he said, "which would permit the bill to be taken up there and passed. I expressed my gratification and said that if the bill passed the House of Representatives the job would be half done and when it passed the Senate it would make little difference, because it would be certain ultimately to pass the Senate."

"The bill in the Senate was set aside for the tax bill and immediately upon conclusion of the tax bill will be taken up again. It will be pressed in the Senate then in the future just as in past and every endeavor made to pass it. There will be no cessation of efforts in the Senate in behalf of the bill."

HUNT ISSUES LETTER
Gov. Hunt of Arizona made public a letter today attacking the Boulder dam proponents and written as a reply to notification from the Federal Trade Commission that it would be unable to take up his request for an investigation of the Boulder dam "lobby." In the letter he said he believed an investigation would be opportune to ascertain "what combination of circumstances induced Secretary Hoover and Senator Johnson to join their political fortunes."

"It occurred to me," Gov. Hunt wrote to Commissioner McCullough of the Trade Commission, "that from such investigation we might learn why the Secretary of the Interior should sign and promulgate a report made by the Geological Survey after expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars and years of study out of service; why he should sign the report as a member of the Federal Power Commission; should go on record as being doubtful of the soundness of the Boulder Canyon project; and then, suddenly, without any new information of a material nature being made available, announce his conversion to and support of the bill."

"I thought we might learn what pledges of political support if any have been given or offered to candidates for President, United States Senators and Representatives and candidates for other offices by William Randolph Hearst and his chain of newspapers; moving-picture producers and municipal corporations and agencies in California and other States because of support offered to the Boulder Canyon bill."

ATTACKS INQUIRY LIMITS
"Surely it would be interesting to learn the amount of increase in the value of property owned in California by the Hearst interests, Chandler and other interests which compose a part of the Boulder Canyon dam lobby, that would accrue to them by authorizing construction of Boulder Canyon dam."

Hunt said he was advised by persons vigorously supporting the Boulder Canyon dam bill that they are doing so to afford a yardstick to measure power rates in other sections of the country.

"I regret to learn that those who proposed this inquiry should have closed the door to a full investigation, by confining it solely to private enterprise," Hunt continued.

"Other investigations conducted by the committee of Congress have convincing evidence that if any were needed, that inquiry may exist in branches of industry and government other than that designated as private enterprise."

MEAD TO BE QUIZZED ON MEXICAN WATER PACT

WASHINGTON, May 14. (Exclusive)—After a two months' fight Representative Elmer O. Leatherwood of Utah has won out in his effort to have Dr. Elwood Mead, chief of the Reclamation Service, called before the House Irrigation Committee for quizzing on the Mexican water treaty negotiations. Arrangements were made today for Mead to appear before the committee Wednesday and after resuming the suggestion heretofore, Chairman Addison T. Smith, Idaho, and other committee proponents of Boulder dam, finally consented to conduct the meeting in the open so newspaper correspondents can be on hand.

Leatherwood has charged that Dr. Mead and others in Congress and the government have attempted to trade off some of the water of the Colorado River as a part of their effort to "log roll" the Swing-Johnson bill through the House.

THREE POWER PLANTS WILL REDUCE RATES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14. (AP)—The Vallejo Electric Light and Power Company today notified the State Railroad Commission of intention to reduce rates on the Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company and the Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company, announced they would do likewise. The decrease in rates at Vallejo was estimated by commission engineers, will result in an annual saving of $30,000 to consumers. The reduction was brought about by a lowering of the price of crude oil used in steam plants for generating electricity.

THE DOORS of the new Oviatt Building are open—the magnificent new store of Alexander & Oviatt is ready for you—the incomparable Oviatt styles are now given a setting of unprecedented elegance. The whole of this towering building owes its conception to the richness of Alexander & Oviatt merchandise—merchandise that deserved a setting worthy of it. So the building was planned to provide the store—and the store was designed to properly show the merchandise.

Los Angeles isn't alone in its enthusiasm for the Oviatt Building. Cosmopolitan people—world-traveled critics whose judgment carries authority—say it is without equal, here or abroad.

It is ultra-modern in conception. Rare, imported Lalique glass adorns it, to give it a character that is as attractive as it is unusual. It is burnished with properly-hued color—from the unique sidewalk—to the silvered iron work of its modro gothic grills and on up to its deep red tiled roof as though to suggest the wealth of color that is on display inside.

On the lower three floors is the store of Alexander & Oviatt. The first of these is given to furnishings, hats, golf hose, sweaters and custom shirts.

The mezzanine is in part devoted to "Salon des Elegance"—a feminine paradise of new and exclusive things for women; and in part to the gift shop offering unusual selections of decorative art for the home.

On the second floor is the display of Oviatt clothing—suits of rare imported fabrics, made with the skill, the finish, the style genius that has given this clothing world-wide fame. A notable innovation here is the Outdoor California Palm Grove which both enhances the charm of the shop and permits the inspection of clothing in natural daylight. On this floor also are luggage, leather goods, traveling accessories, riding clothes, and shoes.

The third floor is "what makes it go"—the offices and work-rooms of the Alexander & Oviatt organization. The upper floors of the building are devoted to deluxe offices—every one appointed in complete harmony with its surroundings.

And topping it all is the red-tiled tower with its clock and chimes—proclaiming to Los Angeles the passing hour, in much the same mellow tone that long ago called the Padre to his meditations.

It's open house in the Alexander & Oviatt store now. Come in and see it. Don't feel obliged to buy. Just come and see how beautiful a modern store can be!

WAR ON CHICAGO CRIME LAUNCHED

Special Grand Jury Ordered on Bar's Plea

Election Terrorism to be Investigated

Three Judges Face Charges of Connivance

CHICAGO, May 14. (Exclusive)—Despite the bitter fight made by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, Chief Justice William V. Brothers today granted the petition of the Chicago Bar Association calling for a special grand jury to investigate election murders, frauds and terrorism. Atty.-Gen. Oscar Carstrom will take charge of the investigation, which is expected to uncover appalling conditions of rottenness in the administration of public affairs and especially close connection between the deeply entrenched crime syndicate and officials who were elected to suppress crime.

The special grand jury will begin operations June 4. It will be free of City Hall and county political influence unless, of course, steps are taken by those interested to intimidate witnesses or drive them from the city. It is hoped full light will be thrown upon the bombing of the homes of United States Senator Deussen and of Judge John A. Swanson, candidate for the office of State's Attorney Crowe, who murdered Octavius Granady, donor of the incriminating evidence.

MURDER CLEW SOUGHT
It also may bring into clearer light the employers of the thugs who murdered Octavius Granady, who was a candidate for Ward Committeeman in opposition to Morris Eller. These gangsters also mutilated a negro preacher so badly that his arm had to be amputated and scores of men were beaten and held prisoner all primary day in a closely guarded flat two blocks distant from the homes of Morris Eller and his son, Judge Emanuel Eller. The Eller are closely allied with State's Attorney Crowe, hence the necessity of a special grand jury and a special investigator.

Another long step toward cleaning the city of crime, said to be winked at and condoned by the bench, was taken today when Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, appeared before a special court of six judges, sitting en banc, and told them why the commission believes that Judges Emanuel Eller, Otto Kerner and S. H. Karkowski should be removed from their assignments to the criminal bench.

LAWYERS UNITED
President Loesch was accompanied to court by many distinguished lawyers, society and business leaders, who assured him of their utmost support in his battle against entrenched crime. Among civic leaders was Julius H. Rosenwald, who explained his presence by saying: "I came of my own volition because I believe this is one of the most important things that has happened in Chicago in many years. I want to back Mr. Loesch and any other man taking this courageous position."

Other notables nodded their heads in approval, so Mr. Rosenwald's statement may be accepted as typical of the general reason why the best elements of Chicago are deeply interested in the war on the three judges.

COURAGEOUS DEFIANCE
Erect, snow haired and unafraid, President Loesch stood before the bar of six judges and denounced the strangle-hold crime has gotten upon Chicago. Specifically he cited figures showing that the three objectionable judges have waived more felony charges for trifling charges against criminals than all other judges in Chicago combined. In other words, the defendants are accused of compromising with criminals, inducing them to plead guilty to some trifling misdemeanor, upon which the major charge would be dismissed and the trial judge would get credit for a quick "conviction" while the criminal, at worst, might spend a few days in jail.

The Grafico also says that the priest, Lucio Perez Mosqueda, and Vicente Gomez Armas have been arrested here on charges which have not been made public. It is said that Armas is a Spaniard and will be deported.

BOMBING FOLLOWS TEMBLOR STINGINESS
SOFIA, May 14. (AP)—Two bombs exploded today at the homes of wealthy men in different parts of Sofia. It is believed that certain so-called patriotic organizations are responsible for the attacks growing out of an asserted lack of generosity by certain rich Bulgarians in connection with the recent earthquake disasters.

FALSE TEETH CHEW TIME TABLE

Engineer Sneezes Molars Out Cab Window and Ties Up Whole Rail Line While All Aboard Train Get Off to Hunt Pesky Teeth

LEXINGTON (Ky.) May 14. (Exclusive)—Most of the railroads of the country boast of the high percentage of time saved by their crack trains and point with pride to their efficiency schedules, but it was different with a passenger train on the H. and E. Railroad operating between Holdenville and Elizabethtown, southeast of here.

A. G. Bush, veteran engineer, had just started on his run from Holdenville, where the Lincoln Memorial is located, for Elizabethtown, twenty miles away, when he leaped out of his cab and sneezed, which hurled his false teeth into a ditch beside the track. The train ran nearly a half-mile before he could stop, reverse his engine and back to the scene of the disaster.

Both crew and passengers, finding out the cause of the unusual move on the part of the engineer, left the train and joined in the search for the missing teeth, but without avail. Bush, with passengers, mail and express to be served, but without his teeth, climbed in his cab and started again.

He continued to look backward, however, where a searching party was still active, and before the train was out of sight he saw one of the searchers waving frantically to him, indicating that the lost teeth had been found. Brushing aside all schedule regulations, Engineer Bush took his train back to the spot a second time, recovering his lost teeth.

KILLER PLEADS SELF-DEFENSE
Church Slayer Says Victim Planned Death
PITTSBURGH, May 14. (Exclusive)—Self-defense will be the plea of Fayette J. Tyrrell, Sr., 33 years of age, attorney and Sunday-school superintendent, who yesterday left the pulpit of the First Christian Church of Munhall, a suburb, and killed Philip Clark, 26, with three shots from his automatic pistol.

Formally charged with murder late today by Coroner MacGregor, Tyrrell told his counsel, J. Thomas Hoffman, that "it was his life or my life."

SERVICE INTERRUPTED
The slaying occurred just as Rev. J. Walters, the pastor, was preparing for the Mothers' Day service. While Mrs. Clark and her son, 8, looked on with other members of the church, Tyrrell stepped from the rostrum, walked down the aisle of the church, faced the man who is said to have charged that Tyrrell was unfit to be a Sunday-school superintendent, then blazed away three times with the pistol.

Tyrrell was Mrs. Clark's attorney in a divorce proceeding she instituted a year ago in which she charged cruel treatment.

WIFE STANDS BY
Mrs. Tyrrell today added her denial to rumors concerning Tyrrell and Mrs. Clark and stated emphatically that she and her six children would stand by the husband and father-killer to the end. Clark had threatened Tyrrell, Mrs. Tyrrell told police.

STRATON PLAINT JAILS ATHEIST

Smith Tries to Convert Fundamentalist

Charges Center on Remarks About Evangelist

"Unbeliever" Faces Sentence Up to Three Years

NEW YORK, May 14. (AP)—An effort to convert Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton to atheism resulted today in the conviction of Charles Lee Smith, president of the Association for the Advancement of Atheism, for sending annoying letters and literature to the fundamentalist pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. Smith will be sentenced the 11th inst.

After Dr. Straton and A. H. Uley, father of Uldine Uley, girl evangelist, had testified, Smith, who acted as his own counsel, told three justices in special sessions he had hoped only to convert the pastor to atheism and "sex sanity." Smith said the prosecution gave out of his remarks against Uldine Uley.

The justice, however, ordered Smith continued in $500 bail pending sentence, while his career is investigated by probationary officers. The maximum sentence Smith may receive is three years in State prison.

PROHIBITION IN NEW APPEAL

Sober Fathers Mean More Pretty Girls in World, Says Scientist

BERLIN, May 14. (AP)—Dr. Agnes Blum believes that fathers moderately addicted to alcohol are most likely to have male children, while the offspring of a temperate male parent are pre-eminently girls.

Dr. Blum so deduces from experiments on animals since 1921 at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Biological Research. Her conclusion has been accepted by many German scientists, while others hold that the results were due to racial peculiarities of the animals upon which she experimented.

AN OPEN LETTER to the 1,290,315 Depositors of the Bank of Italy

This letter is directed especially to those of our esteemed patrons who have NOT as yet made a Will—and also to those who HAVE made one and have named some friend, relative or other individual to act as Executor of their estates.

If you have not made a Will, you should go immediately to your attorney and have this vitally important document carefully drawn. This will at least insure the distribution of your estate according to your own desires.

If you have had a Will prepared, examine it carefully TODAY and see if it meets all changed conditions in your life. If it does NOT—have it brought up-to-date AT ONCE.

If you have named an INDIVIDUAL to act as your Executor, you may be jeopardizing the interests of your heirs. The most satisfactory type of Executor and Trustee can NEVER be an individual, because human beings become sick, have accidents, die, take vacations, move to other states or countries, or may even become careless, neglectful, dishonest, lazy or indifferent.

Therefore, we would suggest, for the sake of your heirs and your own peace of mind, that you substitute a corporate Executor and Trustee in place of an individual, so that an efficient and dependable administration of your affairs after you are gone may be assured.

And may we point out that the Trust Department of the Bank of Italy is a most desirable Executor and Trustee. It offers financial responsibility, broad experience, thorough reliability, permanence, punctuality, efficiency, accuracy, safety, economy and constant availability. It is impartial and unprejudiced—yet always humanly considerate.

All the advantages of Bank of Italy trust service are obtainable at a cost no greater than the fees allowed by law to an individual acting in the same capacity; and frequently by reason of superior service the cost is actually less.

Our officers at any branch will gladly give you any desired information without placing you under the slightest obligation.

Sincerely yours,
James A. Bacigalupi
President

BROKERS' CARES INCREASE

Preponderance of Green Traders in Market Causes Worry; Untried in Severe Slumps

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Reading of the enormous volume of business the brokerage houses are doing is a natural for the public to envision the stock market as a lucky individual without a care in the world. The fact is that the brokers, instead of counting profits, are a worried group of men, harassed day and night by a problem in psychology for which there is no answer in their experience.

To use the popular expression, Main street now controls the stock market and Wall street has lost its dominant position. This is what is worrying the brokers. Professional traders formerly were about 85 per cent of the customers on the books of the brokerage houses, but now the positions have been reversed and the public represents 85 per cent of the brokerage-house clientele. And it is a public without trading experience, wholly untied in those critical times that the seasoned traders know so well.

STOCK RETURNS SHRINKING

Decline in Yield on Group of Industrials Since 1920 Shown to be Cut Nearly Half

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

NEW YORK, May 14.—The yield on industrial stocks last month fell below 4 1/2 per cent for the first time in history. A full 1 per cent in the yield offered by common industrial stocks has been lost in the last year through the market's unprecedented advance. The average return of thirty-three seasonal industrial issues carried by the Standard Statistics Company in its yield index, at this time last year was 5 1/2 per cent, but gradually that return has shrunk with the rise in stocks until the April yield, published today, sets a new record low at 4.40 per cent.

LONDON, May 14. (By Wireless)—All markets were steady and firm today, but the tone of trading was distinctly quieter. The graphophone of the market was the London Stock Exchange, which indirectly suggests the extent to which the London Stock Exchange now watches Wall street.

SELLING ORDERS
STOP ADVANCE

conducting merger negotiations with Pan American Western, was a leader in that group, moving up more than 3 points to a new peak at $1 5-4. California Petroleum, General Asphalt, Texas Corporation and a few others advanced a point or more.

United States Steel common was sluggish during the greater part of the session, closing more than a point lower at 47 3/4. Republic, Lehigh and Gulf States steels each advanced a point or more. McKeesport, a recent addition to the big board, advanced more than 3 points to a new high at 69 on buying influenced by reports that the plants of the corporation were operating at full capacity.

Outstanding gains also were recorded by American International, American Type Foundries, Coca-Cola, Fox Film A, International Agricultural prior preferred, S. H. Kresge, Kroger Stores National Surety, Phillips-Jones and Pittsburgh Coal. Selling pressure was most effective against Adams Express, American Bank Note, Collins & Aikman, Continental Can, Electric Autolite, General Railway Signal, Philadelphia Company, Western Union and the Worthington Pump preferred issue. All of 2 to 10 points.

COFFEE UP
With exception of coffee futures, which closed 25 to 50 points up, sugar, which held steady, the leading commodity markets were reactionary. Cotton fell $1.25 to nearly $1.50 a bale on selling inspired by reports of favorable weather and a disappointing April consumption report. May wheat declined about 1 1/2 cents a bushel on reports of better weather northwest, but declines in the other options were fractional. Corn dropped 2 to nearly 3 cents a bushel.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with the leading European issues firm. Japanese yen rallied about 10 points to 67.00 cents. Sterling cable rose slightly firmer at 44.85 1-4.

Grain Futures
at New Low on Present Break

CHICAGO, May 14. (Reuters)—Lowest prices on grain on the present downturn were made as the result of further weakening, and while there was a fair rally from the inside future, due to short covering, the grain was at net losses of 15 to 20 cents on wheat, 25 to 30 cents on corn, 15 to 20 cents on oats and 10 to 15 cents on rye.

Favorable weather conditions over the winter and spring wheat regions, with rains over the greater part of the area and a forecast for showers over the entire belt, had considerable influence on sentiment and led to selling and the decline.

Under 1.50 for July there was aggressive short covering and also some change in sentiment, as prices have declined 2 1/2 to 3 cents since the May 7 and 8 rally and 2 1/2 to 3 cents on the May 14 and 15 rally was regarded as somewhat overdone.

Grains with northwestern and southwestern connections were good sellers of wheat at times. Liverpool wheat closed 1 1/2 to 2 cents lower, with July there around 1 1/2 to 2 cents under Chicago at the time it closed, compared with a discount of over 2 cents recently. May showed the most decline during the day, although it is expected that liberal shipments will be made from local stocks this week.

Domestic volume supply decreased 2,207,000 bushels for the week and is 87,300 bushels against 31,751,000 bushels last year. Export demand at the present time was slow, with sales of 400,000 bushels in all positions. Winnipeg was 15 to 20 cents lower, with July leading the decline.

Long July corn came out freely, and while short covering and buying against side was in evidence, the market was heavy from the start and at the inside July showed 13 to 15 cents under the recent high. Futures continued to make rapid progress and is expected to be completed much earlier than last year. Kansas City and 100,000 bushels or more each corn to come here. The visible supply decreased 188,000 bushels for the week, and is 31,127,000 bushels against 33,357,000 bushels last year.

Strip-on orders were uncovered in oats, and while cash interests took the market, continued losses became evident and found support lacking and the decline was easily attained.

Crop reports attracted little attention. Visible supply decreased 1,382,000 bushels for the week and is 6,677,000 bushels against 5,645,000 bushels last year. Exports were on in 17 to 18 bushels with other grains, and with a lack of foreign demand, prices were sharp, closed at the bottom.

A decline of 10 to 20 cents in bar wheat, combined with the weakness and break in corn, led to fair selling of hard by backing interests, prices declined and closed at net losses of 15 to 20 cents. Belatedly, very 10 to 15 cents lower and the unchanged to 15 to 20 cents.

SHIP REVIVAL PENDING
Passage of Jones-White Bill to Start Activity
Tentative Cost Construction Set at $55,000,000
Three New Liners Reported on Matson Line Program

American shipping men stand ready to build at once for the Pacific service twenty-three ships, representing $55,000,000, if the Jones-White merchant marine bill becomes a law, and its passage by both houses appears assured, according to Shipping Board officials on this coast last week.

This program alone represents several times as much building as now is under way in all American shipyards, whose activity has slumped till their output now is 10 percent of the new ship building in the world.

While the bill does not specify construction shall be in American yards, it is declared self-evident no cheap government money will be lent under the bill's provisions, which is not specified in America.

There are projects already outlined on the two coasts, which, if approved, will be most of the $55,000,000. On this coast the Matson Navigation Company stands ready to build three $5,000,000 liners for the California-Australia service, according to George K. Nichols, assistant operating manager, who was a guest at the San Pedro Biltmore Club yesterday.

Other contemplated Pacific construction, according to Jefferson Meyers, Portland member of the United States Shipping Board, includes four $11,750,000 passenger and freight liners to augment a present Pacific-oriental service; six $2,500,000 passenger and freight liners to ply from the Pacific to Europe via the Panama Canal, and ten freighters, costing $1,500,000 each, to replace part of the fleet recently bought by three private lines from the government for trans-Pacific service.

In ten countries 2,782,861 tons of new shipping is being built, 56,948 only is under way in American yards at this time.

SWEDISH LINER TO MAKE RETURN CALL
The Swedish motor liner Mirrabooka, which made an experimental run out of here to Australia early this year, and incidentally broke all speed records on that run, is coming back here from Europe for a second such trip July 17, according to Capt. H. H. Kirkholm, representing General Steamship Corporation, agents for the Trans-Pacific Line, owners of the liner.

Semi-official advice from elsewhere is that a sister ship, the Paramatta, will be completed in Sweden this fall, and also will call here, with the ultimate idea of establishing a fleet of such fast liners on this run direct from Los Angeles.

At present the service is maintained by the motor ships Bullard and Tolken, and the steamers Baren and Tolken. The Mirrabooka on her first voyage averaged sixteen knots from here to Australia, covering the distance in seventeen days.

The Golden Fleece, formerly the Shipping Board steamer Dewey, will sail for Australia with cargo today, on her first trip for the Oceanic and Orient Navigation Company. She is operated by the Matson Navigation Company. The West Farion and the Bearport are still undergoing surveys or repairs here prior to delivery to the O. & O. line.

The C. H. Lawrence, Jr., is loading case oil and will get out for Shanghai late this week after calling here from the east coast to fuel last fall, en route to Japan to be sold, only to be labeled here, sold under the hammer, and expected to proceed to Japan where new purchasers have been found.

Capt. J. B. Knowles will take the American Hawaiian steamer Nevada out for the North Atlantic today, relieving Capt. C. A. Hasebrook on vacation. The steamer is loading 2000 tons here, including chiefly copper, cattle, hides, tallow, canned goods and show cases.

The Minnesota is dropping 2000 tons from the east.

A score of Los Angeles passengers and 1500 tons of Southland oranges and miscellaneous freight went out on the globe-grinding Dollar liner afternoon, bound for the Orient via San Francisco. Among the travelers were Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Andrus and Miss Nola Andrus for Singapore; Lillian Ballentine for Hongkong; Jessie L. Thornburg for Naples and Mrs. A. E. Hizer and L. A. Munger for Panama.

An unhappy new captain took the steamer Walkara for Samoa and the Antipodes yesterday. His ship only stopped here a few hours and he didn't have time enough to see Hollywood. He is Capt. H. H. Davey and he succeeds Capt. E. F. Harris, who has taken the tanker Ootika. The Walkara is on her second trip in the new run for the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, recently adding Los Angeles to its service. Williams, Dimond & Co. are agents.

Panama Mail's Panama liner City of San Francisco is due from Central America at 3 p.m. today to drop thirty passengers and freight. She will be followed tomorrow morning by the liner Ecuador on the east coast with seventy-five passengers.

Hollywood Writer Arrested as Asserted Girl Brander

NELSON FREED ON HEAVY BAIL

Man, 51 Years of Age, Named as Cabin Kidnap

Thirty-six-Hour Ordeal as Prisoner Revealed

Doctor Says Inscription on Body Not Permanent

John A. Nelson, 51 years of age, a Hollywood actor and playwright, was arrested and released on $10,000 bail last night following his indictment by the grand jury yesterday on charges of kidnapping and attacking Jean Weston, 22, an actress model and film actress.

Mrs. Weston appeared before Dep. Dist. Atty. Thomas and declared she was kidnapped by the elderly actor and held captive in his Ventura Boulevard cabin, where he attacked her, beat her and scratched a repulsive word on her body. She also says Nelson snipped locks of blond hair from her head.

Thomas turned the case over to Dep. Dist. Atty. Eagan who took the matter before the grand jury. An indictment charging attack and kidnapping soon was returned upon which $10,000 bail was set by Superior Judge Craig.

BLAMES JEALOUSY

Thomas believes the affair is a culmination of a frenzy of jealousy on Nelson's part, since Miss Weston was engaged to marry him June 1, and within the last few days she had told him she did not love him and the engagement was broken.

Miss Weston, daughter of Cornelius Weston, a jeweler, living at 1726 West Twenty-second street, says she met her former fiance Saturday evening and dined with him at a Ventura Boulevard cafe.

During the dinner, she says, he was exceedingly solicitous, but when they departed she soon discovered she was a captive. He drove at once to his cabin at 11369 Ventura Boulevard where she was found early yesterday by her father and police.

ATTACK FOLLOWS

Once in the cabin, she told Thomas, the man slapped and attacked her. During the time she was in the cabin he seized a pair of shears and snipped some of her hair from the top of her head, she stated.

Having scratched the word on her body, Miss Weston says Nelson told her it would never come off. County Jail Physician Blank, after an examination, however, pronounced the flesh inscription a superficial scratch which will disappear in a week.

The girl's father became suspicious as to his daughter's welfare when he received a telephone call Saturday night from the girl saying she was in Pasadena with her mother, from whom Mr. Weston is separated.

SENDS TELEGRAM

Sunday he received a telegram signed by Miss Weston as follows: "I hope you are not disappointed but John and I have made up our minds to leave today for what I hope will be our second honeymoon. I am writing you. Please wish us happiness even though you cannot understand. I was not at mother's last night when I phoned you."

Mr. Weston then recalled his daughter and the author having taken out a marriage license three years ago in San Diego, which was never used. He summoned North Hollywood police and raided the Ventura Boulevard cabin where Miss Weston was found.

The man convinced the officers that Miss Weston was his wife and that the asserted affair was "but a little family quarrel." He was released, but was arrested again on the indictment.

For three years Nelson was director-general of the Dominion Film Corporation. He is the author of "The New Disciple," and also wrote "The Photoplay." Nelson formerly was connected with a federated producers service in Hollywood.

WYATT HAS FRAUD CASE POSTPONED

Discount Company Head Accused of $20,000 Theft at Liberty Without Bail

At request of defense counsel, Municipal Judge Stafford yesterday postponed the preliminary hearing of Owen E. Wyatt, president of the Provident Discount Company, on three counts of grand theft, until the 26th inst.

Wyatt, 35 years of age, surrendered in court by his attorney, Henry Bodkin, on April 24, last, after Municipal Judge Russell had issued a bench warrant for his arrest, is accused of defrauding the three complainants of approximately $20,000 in trust funds.

Mr. Wyatt, 35 years of age, surrendered in court by his attorney, Henry Bodkin, on April 24, last, after Municipal Judge Russell had issued a bench warrant for his arrest, is accused of defrauding the three complainants of approximately $20,000 in trust funds.

Police department records show that Wyatt was arrested for robbery in San Diego in 1912 and began serving a five-year sentence in State's penitentiary on June 12, 1912. He is at liberty without posting bail on recommendation of Dist. Atty. Keyes.

Capt. Bob Roper in Court Denies Battery Charge

Capt. Bob Roper, former heavy-weight boxing champion of the A. E. F., pleaded not guilty to a charge of battery yesterday, announced one week in which to appear for sentencing by Municipal Judge Wilson on the 23rd inst. O. Carlyle, with offices in the Merritt Building, accuses Roper of striking him during a quarrel over a business deal last week.

Since his retirement from the professional ring Roper has been operating a physical-culture studio on Western avenue, the complainant says.

FUND DRIVE FOR OPERA STARTED

for two years and has proven the success of this plan.

The production of Mascagni's "Cavalleria" with a large chorus and orchestra and a resident cast was a revelation of the musical resources of this city. The performance equaled many an imported one and the enthusiasm and spontaneity of the singers added a delightful quality that could not possibly be duplicated by outsiders.

Florence Russell sang the difficult part of "Santuzza" in a splendid way. Her voice was displayed to advantage and was heard above the large orchestra with ease. In the duets with "Turiddu" her musician's ship sustained both parts and her acting was at all times appealing and effective.

Neal Begley, well-known business man of this city, gave an adequate performance of "Turiddu" and Jose Mercado's "Alfo" was most convincing.

MANY CURTAIN CALLS

Lenore Ivey as Lola was a surprise. Her clear and flexible voice was brilliant without hardness and she has a flair for the stage. The audience felt that unmistakable magnetism of an actress of power, from her first moment on the stage. C. Enid Deeds was excellent as the mother, Lucia.

Many curtain calls were taken by the cast and the audience demanded the appearance of Gaetano Merola, whose directing made the smooth production possible, and for Pietro Cimino who brought the chorus up to the necessary standard.

M. Oukrainy's ballet divertissement

M. Oukrainy's ballet divertissement, in which he was assisted by the charming premiere danseuse, Eleanor Flage, and members of the Pavlov-Oukrainy ballet, proved delightful. The dancing was finished and the costumes unusually effective. M. Oukrainy's Persian Dance, which was his solo, was one of the most perfect examples of the superlative ballet technique ever seen on the Auditorium boards. It was an oriental conceit originating with M. Oukrainy and of the greatest artistry.

Altadena Man Candidate for County Board

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent PASADENA, May 14. — John Walke of Altadena today announced that he will be candidate for County Supervisor in the Fifth District. Mr. Walke announced that his platform will be "100 per cent honesty" and opposition to the "railroading" of improvements by a minority.

"There are no political or money machines behind me," said the latest aspirant to the county board. "I am running as independently as the 'lone wolf' and I am for all of Los Angeles county and not one particular district."

Plaint Issued in West Case

A complaint charging Sam Kala, 31 years of age, an Hawaiian, with simple assault was issued yesterday by Dep. Dist. Atty. Richardson. The complaint was issued at the request of Mrs. Claire West, a costume designer for the Cecil B. DeMille studios.

Mrs. West reported that Kala had assaulted her following uncomplimentary remarks said to have been made by some of the guests at a party given by the woman, as to the ability of Kala as a ukulele player. Kala is charged with having struck Mrs. West several times.

SENTENCE DELAYED FOR MINE PROMOTER

W. F. McCann, former president of the Idaho Hydraulic Company, was granted a continuance one week in which to appear for sentencing by United States District Judge James yesterday. McCann pleaded guilty to a mail-fraud indictment a month ago. He was indicted jointly with C. C. Stout, his partner, who died recently. Post-office inspectors assert investors were defrauded of about $100,000 by the mining promoter.

DECEIVER TRIES TO DROWN BRIDE

Mrs. Donald Tells Harrowing Story of Experience

Husband Chloroforms Young Wife to Get Jewels

Other Women Victims Here, Police Believe

The tale of a harrowing three-day honeymoon in which her husband, chloroformed her and attempted to drown her in a hotel bathtub was recited yesterday by Mrs. Esther Donald, who came from San Francisco to ask Los Angeles police to conduct a search for the missing bridegroom. Her husband's name, she said, is James George Donald. She married him after a brief courtship.

ROBBED AND DESERTED

After attempting to drown her, the bride said, Donald robbed her of jewelry worth approximately $800 and vanished. She robbed her of jewelry worth approximately $800 and vanished. She reported the matter to the San Francisco police who now are seeking him on a charge of grand theft.

Mrs. Donald became acquainted with him through a mutual friend, she told police, and loved him almost from their first meeting. He was a whirlwind lover and they were married a few days later.

The asserted death attempt occurred in San Francisco on Sunday, the 6th inst., three days after their wedding, and she has not seen her husband since, she said.

FIND RECORD HERE

Detectives assigned to investigate the case said they learned yesterday that Donald also was engaged to marry a Los Angeles woman.

Mrs. Emma Shields, who lives at 617 McDowell avenue, and further that he had visited her quite recently.

Mrs. Shields told Detective Lieutenant James that she loaned her prospective husband $140 upon his plea that he had urgent business to do.

St. Louis and lacked funds with which to finance the trip. The detectives believe several other women in this city may have been victimized by the man.

Mrs. Donald is registered at the Norbo Hotel, Sixth and Crocker streets, and expects to remain in Los Angeles until her missing husband is located.

AVOCADO SHOW DRAWS CROWDS

a run of six days up to and including next Saturday night. Mayor Chammess in a short address told what the avocado show means to the country, the Southland and the world, and the importance of the way of instructing the general public in the merits of this highly healthful and delicious semi-tropical fruit.

Les J. Sims, president of the Progress Club, which originated the show and who has stood sponsor since its inception, responded on behalf of the club and the show management, giving much of the credit for past successes and future prospects to M. E. Aitrop, chairman of the general committee, who has active charge of assembling the exhibits and interesting the merchants, who have responded in generous fashion.

Much of the tent is filled with the industrial section, where local merchants have been invited to exhibit, as is a joy zone where the American Legion operates all the concessions and furnishes the gaily lit part of an exhibition of this character. In this part of the tent a large stage occupies a prominent position from which will be provided a program of high-class vaudeville each evening of the show.

Friday and Saturday will be devoted to a meeting of the California Avocado Association, which will be addressed and advised by experts. Friday night a banquet will be given at the White House College gymnasium, at which President Walter F. Dexter of the school will preside. C. E. Dutton, president of the State association, will attend, and the principal address will be made by Dr. Wilson Popejoy.

SPANKING OPENS CULT QUIZ

Neophyte, in Battery Complaint, Ascribes Weird Rites to Religious Order

Investigators for the City Prosecutor's office yesterday began an investigation of a local religious cult following the complaint of Mrs. Earl Lancaster, 45 years of age, of 1201 West Vernon avenue, who related a weird story of the cult's so-called rites.

Mrs. Lancaster appeared before Deputy City Prosecutor Chotiner to swear to a complaint charging battery by a local attorney who, she says, is the manager for the religious order.

The man's wife is said to be the head of the cult, which will be provided a program of high-class vaudeville each evening of the show.

Friday and Saturday will be devoted to a meeting of the California Avocado Association, which will be addressed and advised by experts. Friday night a banquet will be given at the White House College gymnasium, at which President Walter F. Dexter of the school will preside. C. E. Dutton, president of the State association, will attend, and the principal address will be made by Dr. Wilson Popejoy.

To become properly humiliated and thereby pass the first requisite to membership, the 45-year-old woman was told, so Mrs. Lancaster asserts, that she must submit to a spanking. Mrs. Lancaster indicated in her story that the cult obligation was agreeable to her provided that her own husband be given the privilege of administering the spanking. The attorney-manager of the religious order, however, administered the spanking himself, so Mrs. Lancaster declares.

Deputy Chotiner said his agents will make a thorough investigation of the affair. No complaint has been issued as yet.

MODERN GIRL DEFEATS FOES

WOMANHOOD REMAINS

While admitting that times and girls have changed, Mrs. Laughlin points out that the new freedom has also brought liberty to the mothers of the daughters under the microscope. That neither is less womanly than the woman of 1900 is also about her.

"I am convinced that the average girl prefers the home," she continued, "but the wise girl prepares for two careers, general support and home-making. Every girl should be trained to support herself if the necessity should arise. And, above all, she should not cage her girl. They must be trained to do their own thinking and to meet emergencies. Every case of delinquency that I have ever known was the case of a girl who had been dominated."

VIEWPOINT FIXED

"No one wants a 1900 car," the speaker concluded, "but many want the 1900 girl. You can't have her. You'll just have to adjust your viewpoint to 1929."

Mrs. Aletha Gilbert, connected with the police department for thirty-six years, and a city mother for fourteen years, said her subject was supposed to be "The Modern Girl," but she has chosen the normal modern girl, who is really a girl in a modern dress.

"She enjoys the spotlight that is upon her," Mrs. Gilbert said, "and tries to live up to its artificial glamour, but at heart she is just as fine and clean as the girl of any of the preceding centuries."

Mrs. Gilbert gave several examples of types with which she has come in contact in her work, and concluded that she is always being surprised at the modern girl's intelligence.

BOY SCOUT SPEAKER

Edward B. De Groot, Los Angeles Boy Scout leader, took as his subject "The Modern Girl and Her Boy Friend." "When we got one car we thought we were up to date," he began. "Now, according to the advertisements, we are behind the times unless we have two. The modern girl has absorbed this new idea of unlimited consumption and she has two beasts. One is a runabout for playing around, going to movies and games, and the other is the real thing, he takes her to the well affairs."

De Groot, concluding that she will make a wonderful wife, because she is a profound thinker, cultured and an organizer, left the audience with the warning, "she must be allowed to get out of touch with the truth of the world."

"Wear skimpy clothes, do anything to keep your daughter's confidence!" he admonished.

Olympic Group Reports Brisk Ticket Sales

From every city in Southern California come reports of increasing interest in the Olympic carnival and entertainment at the Coliseum on June 16, says Robert S. Weaver, president of the Southwest Olympic Games committee. In Long Beach, San Diego, Pasadena and Glendale, where citizens' committees recently were formed, tickets are selling rapidly. The movement in support of the carnival is being led by American Legion posts.

Continued demand for tickets is reported by the B. H. Dyas Company and at the Olympic Games committee headquarters, where many mail orders are being filled. A considerable proportion of the latter come from Arizona and New Mexico.

NEW MAGAZINE WILL COME OUT IN JULY

A new magazine, The Western Light, to be published by the Cal Art Publishing House at Whittier, will make its initial appearance July 1, according to announcement of the editor, Edith Elden Robinson, yesterday.

The magazine is a good standard and type of literature is one aim," said Mrs. Robinson. The publication will be largely devoted to fiction and poetry. Miss Robinson is a graduate of Northwestern University.

COUNTY ADOPTS HOSPITAL PLAN

New $10,000,000 Building System Approved

Great Institution Will be Erected by Units

Twenty-six Contracts Will Cover Construction

Plans and specifications for completion of the new $10,000,000 General Hospital, in five units of work, under twenty-six individual contracts, were approved and adopted yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

"Work will go forward now as rapidly as possible. The whole job will not be completed until 1935, but portions of the building will be ready for use by the end of 1930," Supervisor Graves, chairman of construction for the Board of Supervisors, explained yesterday.

The structural steel work already has been finished. Bids for contracts for what is known as the first construction unit will be advertised for immediately. This unit will comprise the placing of concrete, construction of walls and floors and the placing of windows.

The second and third units will complete certain portions of the building. The fourth and fifth units will finish the job, with outbuildings and incidentals.

Instead of letting a general contract, the board determined as a matter of policy to let the work out in twenty-six individual contracts.

"We are handling this in this way so as to get into a broader market," Supervisor Beas said. "There are few contractors who could undertake a $10,000,000 job, while there are many who can bid on the smaller units of work. Thus we will have more competition."

New Auto Stage Line Makes Run to Grand Canyon

The inauguration of a new Fred Harvey automobile stage service between Williams, Ariz., and the Grand Canyon, effective today, was announced yesterday by General Passenger Agent Duffy of the Santa Fe.

The service supplements the regular trains that run between the main line at Williams and the Grand Canyon. It is stated this will provide connections for east-bound passengers arriving on train Number 8 on route to Grand Canyon and those desiring to use "The Chief" from Williams. West-bound connections will be received from the Chief and Number 7 to the Grand Canyon.

The new service, it is announced, will take care of travelers arriving or leaving Williams before and after the departure of the Canyon trains, as well as those not using through Pullman cars to the rim.

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—Instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

Troy Laundry began in 1889 on the theory that lots of people want humanized, understanding effort even in the prosaic matter of washing clothes.

Proof that our theory was right is found in the fact that some 10,000 women in Los Angeles and surrounding towns now send their laundry to Troy. More are being added every week.

We have grown, but only in a way that has enabled us to stick to our original purpose of taking extra pains.

Ethel Barrymore Voices
How Los Angeles Growth
Makes Her Marvel

"California, Here I Come" is the song I hummed as I went to bed
Sunday night and as I got up very early this morning I just changed the tense," said Ethel Barrymore, who with her company of players stepped from the Union Pacific
Continental Limited yesterday morning when the star voiced her happiness to get back to California.
"I guess I was the first one up on the train this morning," she added.
"I always am when the train is coming into California. It never ceases to fascinate me and I always marvel at the growth of Los Angeles as it can be seen from the train windows. It's a bit foggy this morning. Reminds me of London. But rain or shine, I am glad to be here."

Mrs. Barrymore and her company, who opened in the Biltmore last evening, occupied two special cars on the limited from the East.

Today's Bible Text

Blessed are they that keep judgment, and that doeth righteousness at all times. Psalm cvii.

NONALOUS
 A man often is such negligible character that they rightly may be considered no man.

SMALL STUFF
 Looks as if they were indulging in too much midget politics around the City Hall. It is too large and impressive a structure to be devoted to puny games.

BIG PAY
 Tom Mix, cowboy star, has signed a contract for $1,500,000 a year. Seems like rather big pay, but there are many people who wouldn't dream of doing some of Tom's stunts if they were offered ten times that amount—riding a horse over the ties on a high railroad trestle, for example.

A N EXPENSIVE CEREMONY
 To provide for the enormous expense of crowning the Mikado the Japanese Diet has just appropriated $1,500,000. The ceremony will take place in November. There are murmurings in Japan against the appropriation. Well, this crowning business is one big expense that Americans never have to murmur about.

A N ALASKAN NOVELTY
 There seems to be no end to the introduction of novelties in aviation. Who would have dreamed that the airplane could be successfully employed in herding reindeer? Yet that is what it is being used for in Alaska, and, according to Ralph Lomen, pioneer in the reindeer business there, the idea has proved not only practical but quite successful.

HOTEL BIBLES
 Seems that they are building hotels faster than they are selling Bibles. At any rate the Odeon Society—whose mission it is to place a Bible in every hotel room in America—reports that as a result of recent construction activities it is over 1,000,000 Bibles behind. By this time there are a lot of rooms that have radios but no Scripture. It will be necessary to take up another collection.

NOTHING DOING
 Said that a no account count from Italy offered to confer his title on any American for $100,000, but while waiting for customers made love and proposed marriage to an actress. Now the doll has heard of his bargaining and tossed him into the discard. The frayed title is still there, but nobody wants it. It isn't worth $3 in Rome and cannot be cashed here. A duke cannot trade his title for a bowl of soup in a Los Angeles cafeteria.

TURNING THE TABLES
 The average American reporter who is called upon to interview a famous visitor to this country usually catches him when he is getting his first view of the skyline of New York and his earliest questions will call for the stranger's impressions of America and his views upon bobbed hair, short skirts and prohibition. The Japanese jaunter, who recently sought to make a record journey around the world, was ready for these questions when he reached New York. Instead of being interviewed himself he insisted upon interviewing the reporters. Before they could catch breath he wanted to know why Christian Science had made such progress in this country and what were considered the fundamental differences between Buddhism and Christianity? He asked the reason for a naval expansion program and he wanted to know what were considered the chief issues in the approaching Presidential campaign. He wished to know to what extent unemployment existed in this country and what proportion did wages bear to the price of goods. He asked what was the objection to the teaching of evolution in the schools and was there any urge for a universal language. He wanted to know what America would do in the matter of fostering peace in China and he asked why it was that the politicians controlled so many of the newspapers. These were samples of his alert questioning and the American reporters were for once left so flustered that they failed to find out what the son of Nippon thought of a flapper who had her teeth shaved.

SECRETARY MELLON SPEAKS

The carefully worded declaration of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that of all the Presidential candidates, "Mr. Hoover seems to come closest to the standard we set for this high office" is the most important single pronouncement that has been made in the campaign since President Coolidge announced his declaration. It means that, barring the unforeseen, most if not all the seventy-nine votes Pennsylvania will cast in the Republican National Convention next month will be cast for the Secretary of Commerce and it means the swaying of perhaps an equal number of uninstructed delegates from other States in the same direction.

If it does the latter, it will insure Hoover's nomination on an early, if not on the first, ballot. It does not pay to be overconfident; many things can happen in politics, and the Hoover forces cannot afford to relax work for a moment until the nomination is actually in Hoover's hands; but it can be said with truth that that consummation has been brought much nearer by the words of the Pennsylvania leader.

Mr. Mellon's first choice was President Coolidge, his second Charles E. Hughes; but neither of these men is in the race, and it is difficult to imagine a combination of circumstances that would change the decision of either. Hitherto Mr. Mellon has been silent as the Sphinx about his choice among the actual candidates, withholding his opinion until the proper time came to make it known. The time came and he spoke out without uncertainty.

Senator Borah, who will receive the votes of his own State for the nomination, and Senator Norris, who has some delegates from the Mid-West, both concede that Hoover's nomination is now probable. Since men who themselves are candidates do not concede strength to a rival without good reason, these utterances can be taken at full face value and a little more.

The most important immediate effect of Secretary Mellon's words will be in the neighboring State of New Jersey, where Hoover's chances of obtaining the full delegation of thirty-one votes have been materially advanced. New Jersey votes today and the Hoover forces have been confident of obtaining most of the delegates. The Hoover ticket is the only one in the field with a complete slate; if it wins in its entirety, as it may because of Mr. Mellon's high praise of his Cabinet colleague, the victory will influence both Pennsylvania and New York, whose delegations are already chosen, and the New England States which are still to choose.

Supporters of some of the other candidates are trying to find a crumb of comfort in the wording of Secretary Mellon's statement and his cautionary request to the delegates from Pennsylvania not to pledge themselves in advance of the convention. Caution is habitual with Mr. Mellon, who would much rather mean more than he says than to be required by circumstances to retract, and the seeming reservation of a final decision implied in his words has little significance. It merely means that a careful campaigner does not burn all his bridges behind him. He is for Hoover under present conditions; and these conditions are not likely to change in a month.

It should not be forgotten that this placing of Hoover above, for instance, Daves, who has been a lifelong friend of Mellon's, is the measured estimate of a man second only to President Coolidge in the country's esteem, whose management of the nation's finances in a most difficult time has stamped him as an expert approaching genius in governmental matters. His judgment that Hoover is well worthy of the Presidency was not brought about by the fact that Hoover has demonstrated that he is the popular choice, but by his own opinion of the Commerce Secretary's capacity. It is an accolade that does not follow, but confirms, the opinion of the people.

PICKING A NEIGHBORHOOD

That a neighborhood may be judged by the kind of newspapers it reads has long been known to the astute, so the incident reported in the Van Nuys Tribune of a prospective apartment-house builder taking a census of doorsteps in the early morning to determine whether it was a good place to make investments is probably less out of the ordinary than it seems. The paper this man used as his standard of comparison was the Los Angeles Times.

"I have erected more than a dozen apartment-houses in Los Angeles," the Tribune quoted the census taker as saying, "and have never yet failed because my location was not properly selected." If 75 per cent of the delivered papers are The Times, the Tribune went on to quote him, the standing of the neighborhood is very high: an average above 55 per cent marks the neighborhood as one worth investing in.

He might have added, one well worth advertising in also. The Times has long prided itself on the quality of its circulation, as well as its quantity and the fact that it is nearly all home-delivered, and it would be mock-modesty to deny that the tribute is pleasing. It is confirmation of The Times' belief that sectionalism does not appeal to the north-while people of any community.

A man is known not only by the company he keeps, but by the paper he takes. The idea may be expanded. A store may be known by the columns in which it advertises. Dependable places of business seek dependable people for customers. Flashy folks who wear flashy clothes prefer a flash sheet in their homes.

LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

AT CAMP BALDY yesterday, we discovered the fastest-growing thing in California trout fishing. We came on a man casting for trout in the San Antonio River. Just as we passed he got a bite and became so excited that he splashed and all but fell in. He didn't exactly play the fish—he came nearer to playing the chicken. But he succeeded in landing the fish, which measured a good two inches from tip to tip.

"Never mind," his companion assured him. "It will grow to at least a foot before you reach the office tomorrow morning."

A Trout a Minute
 But Mrs. Foster Curry assured us that a few days ago she went out and in five minutes caught eight trout averaging eight inches in length. She looked us right in the eyes as she said it, with such a clear, steady, honest gaze that we couldn't doubt her—much. The most we could do was think that possibly it had taken five and one-half minutes or possibly even six.

"Twelve rangers were here the other day," Mrs. Curry continued. "Inspecting fire breaks and such things, and found time to do a little fishing. They caught eighty trout in about an hour."

New in the Time
 If you want to see the mountains hereabouts at their loveliest, don't put it off too long. Now is the time when the lower levels are beautified by an abundance of wildflowers. The buckhorn and mountain lilac are fading fast, but the delphinium and a score of other lovely things are just coming into their own, and the yucca is beginning to lift its torch.

Back to Nature
 Still, there was a picnic party under nearly every tree at Eleven Oaks Camp and Camp Baldy, and we heard a man say it did him no end of good to get back to nature like that. He was sitting at the twenty-five-foot soda fountain in the 10th floor dining-room at the moment, having decided not to take a swim cult matter, requiring both time and money. The result justifies the expenditure, because only in that way can a newspaper be produced which wins and keeps the confidence of its readers. That The Times has this confidence is evidenced not only by such incidents as the occurrence at Van Nuys, but by the fact that it is first in volume of advertising, and has held this leadership for years.

The Times regards it as a distinct compliment to be considered the trail-blazer of new apartment-houses, or any other legitimate lines of trade. Following The Times delivery car evidently leads into good company. This paper does not specialize in scare heads to catch the strays on the streets. It aims to print all the news that is fit to print all the time.

A worth-while clientele may be found early any morning by worth-while seekers for success.

CIGARETTES AND TAXES

Revenue receipts of the treasury for the first nine months of the current fiscal year indicated the receipt of $223,827,000 from cigarette taxes, a gain of $30,000,000 over the same period a year before. Tobacco revenues would have shown a decrease for the period except for the increase in cigarette revenues. All other tobacco taxes returned for the period only $70,284,000. An interesting comparison with other revenues is provided by the motor industry, which paid $41,048,000 in automobile taxes.

Since 1915, the per capita tobacco tax has leaped from 79 cents to more than $3. One needs no statistician to help establish the patent fact that cigarettes account for the increase of nearly 400 per cent. Whatever it may portend, if anything, it is apparent that the cigarette is gaining in favor over the humble pipe and the majestic cigar. Along comes the frank conversationalist and adds that woman who uses neither of the more masculine forms of tobacco has added huge volume to tobacco consumption by her favor for cigarettes, but it is perhaps better not to make any definite conjectures on that subject. Let every man and woman be his own statistician according to their courage and discretion.

CALIFORNIA'S 'WETNESS'

Much space has been devoted of late by the big eastern newspapers to the results of the Smith campaign in California. In their editorials not a few of these journals assume that Smith's victory in the primaries means that California is a wet State, and on the strength of this assumption anti-Prohibition newspapers are saying that if Smith runs on a wet platform he might be able to carry California and all the other "wet" States. Not a chance. California is no more wet than it is Fascist or soviet, and it certainly is not Democratic.

In the concrete pool next door because the steam plant to warm up the cold mountain water has not yet been installed.

Modern Dining-room

Foster Curry, known to visitors to Camp Curry in the Yosemite, now has charges of Camp Baldy, and his first act was to remodel the big dining-room in the center of the camp.

The way it used to be, it wasn't suitable for a camp dining-room at all," he explained. "It didn't leave any good place for dancing."

They Got the Palm
 Wild and rugged and beautiful as Old Baldy is, Camp Baldy was a little too cluttered up for what we like to imagine is our taste. But our four boys got a wonderful kick out of it. As soon as we had picked beside the sparkling, chattering stream they set off to explore the wild—and found the burro corral.

All the rest of the afternoon we had to lead them around on burros, as only one of them was big and strong and persistent enough to make a burro move by himself.

We had to walk beside the smaller boys, and continually slap and spank the burros to get them to move. We spanked with open palm until we could spank no more. It was one case in which the spanking really hurt us much more than it hurt the spankees.

But it was perfectly safe, and after we had coaxed and pushed and pulled a burro 100 yards or so from the corral, we could let go and it would jog back undisturbed. When we finally gave its torch, the boys were begging for just one more hour of burro-ing.

The Irrepressible College Girl
 But we forsook them and sought refuge in the bowling alley. An attractive young woman seemed to be in charge just then, so we connected it our duty to interview her.

We thought it might be rather fun to try out our two or three big words on a bowling-alley girl. "Are you ever obsessed by nostalgia or ennui out here?" we inquired. "On the contrary," she replied, "the heterogeneity of the week-end crowds affords unrivaled opportunities to anyone interested in anthropology. And we're only here week-ends. The rest of the time we're pursuing knowledge in Pomona College."

partly this year is to make prohibition the paramount issue." If that is the Democrats' best hope they may as well close up shop and go out of business as a national party.

RIDING FOR A FALL
 I have nothing but respect for Mussolini. He will not admit there's such a word as fall. Without a glint of pity he pursued the wretched little thing, and we were left with a pile of mud and baggage into jail.

He set the whole of Italy to toiling. He has it building bridges, roads and ships. He's established law and order to the country's utmost border. And he's even thought of getting rid of tips.

He has made the big hotels cut down their prices. So's to land the thrifty Yankee tourist trade. Everywhere—except in Venice he's eschewed gold and tennis. Every mandate that he issues is obeyed.

He has cleaned the streets and built new roads for motors. He is slowly cutting down the nation's debt. With a rude and Roman rigor and a fresh untiring vigor. He has finished everything he's started—yet.

But the strongest, sternest ruler has his limits. And though Mussolini sure can manage men. He may find the will complexes of the gentler, softer sex is. Well, to put it briefly—something else again.

When he tells the girls and women of his country That hereafter they must wear their dresses long. We admire his bold ambition, but we harbor the suspicion That he's going to discover he's in wrong.

He can summon all the women to his palace And inform them that their dresses are too short. He can shout with frenzied passion that they've got to change the fashion. But he'll find that they'll do nothing of the sort.

He might have an altercation with Vesuvius. And the outcome we'd not venture to predict. But despite his resolution and his iron constitution. If he tackles boasting women he'll be licked.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CHINA

BY BAILEY MILLARD

When Mrs. Sun Yat Sen, widow of the "liberator" of China from the Manchu despotism, threw up her hands and said that China is hopelessly given over to militarism she stated the case quite lucidly. This was about six months ago. Up to that time Mrs. Sun had been an outstanding leader of the Nationalists, but when the party became divided into cliques, one warring against another, she saw that the principles for which her husband had fought so valiantly no longer ruled the other leaders, that they were actuated by purely selfish motives and that the campaign, into which she had thrown her heart and soul was no longer one in which she could engage with any feeling of self-respect. So she retired, leaving the mercenaries to fight it out among themselves, which they have been doing ever since with nothing worthy or even effective to show for it.

Perhaps that foreign power will prove to be Japan, which at present is making the only effort that is being made to police China.

SONG OF THE ROSE
 I shall dance for a day
 In the sun and wind,
 I shall dance for a day,
 No more.
 I shall gather the butterflies
 Close to my heart.
 As upward, and outward
 They soar.
 I shall rule for an hour
 My kingdom as queen,
 I shall rule for an hour,
 And smile;
 But at dawn I shall scatter
 My soft petals here,
 And slumber, and dream,
 Awake.

FINGERPRINT CLEW BRINGS $1000 REWARD TO OFFICERS

Because the fingerprints of an auto-theft suspect tallied with those of a man wanted for the killing of a bank cashier in London, Ont., in January, 1921, Officers O. T. Stanley and A. E. Keppeler of Wilshire division are today $1000 richer than when they started to patrol their beats yesterday.

LEAKAGE OF GAS HUNTED WITH MATCH

Result, House Demolished and Explorer in Hospital With Severe Burns

Rafael Gomez, 36 years of age, went upstairs in his home last night hunting for a leaky gas pipe with the aid of a match, and found it. Gomez was taken to the Angell Hospital, where he was treated for first and second-degree burns, and the house at 1628 Trinity street was nearly demolished by the explosion that shook the neighborhood.

According to Gomez's story to investigators Wolf and Sleeper of the Fire Department's arson squad, the smell of escaping gas became noticeable shortly after 8 o'clock and he started on a tour of the house in an effort to find the leak. After being unable to locate the trouble downstairs, he went to the upper story and lighted a match to find the light switch. The explosion followed.

Practically every wall in the structure collapsed and the roof was lifted.

Actress Keeps 'Em Guessing

Romances come and go among members of the Hollywood film colony, but Gwen Lee, 1928 Wampas baby star, captures all prizes for keeping 'em guessing.

For three years Miss Lee, a featured player at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, and George J. Hill, director, have been constant companions. Hill is now in Europe and reports put in circulation yesterday say that when he returns on June 1 their engagement will be announced.

Miss Lee was asked about these reports yesterday.

"It's deep dark secret," was about all she had to say.

Miss Lee asserted she does not care to discuss the reports other than to say she might be doing something interesting to announce at a later date.

"Will it be your engagement?" she was asked.

"We'll have to wait and see," she replied.

Her friends say she has been seen occasionally wearing a diamond ring on the proper finger, but Miss Lee declined to make comment.

Woman Loses $50,000 Suit Over Injuries

A decision in favor of the defendant was given by Judge L. T. Price in the suit for $50,000 damages brought by Leah Swape against King G. Gillette for injuries Miss Swape received while riding in the Gillette automobile.

The action is one in which the plaintiff was injured while she, Gillette and Walter Arnold, then the woman's husband, were on their way to the mountains to test a modern diving rod in a hunt for buried treasure, a device invented by Arnold. Arnold was driving the car and in attempting to pass a truck on the highway ran into another car.

The plaintiff contended that Arnold was in the employ of Gillette and that the latter, as his employer, was liable for the injuries sustained by the plaintiff.

Judge Price held that under evidence adduced Arnold was not Gillette's employee; that he was merely "grubstaking" Arnold while he was working on the invention, therefore not his employer.

Historic Rug Put on Display

The peace and victory rug, of historic interest and valued at $150,000, will be on display at the oriental rug department of the May Company store tomorrow, and will form one of the window displays beginning next Monday.

Owned by Thomas H. Kullinjan, assistant commissioner-general for the Persian government at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, the rug was on display at the fair in the Pennsylvania Building under the Liberty Bell resting on it.

It was on the same rug that President Harding took his oath of office. It was spread out in the Arc de Triomphe at Paris and was trod upon by the honor troops of the Day of Victory, and was placed in the Hall of Mirrors, Palace of Versailles, during the peace negotiations.

Declared to be 150 years of age, the rug, which is 13x10 feet, is woven in an intricate design of pastel blues and pinks, with an ivory background. It is not for sale.

County Urged

to Buy Airport Near El Monte

Purchase of the El Monte airport by the county for operation as an airport by the county or by the city as a tenant was urged upon the Board of Supervisors yesterday by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and Civic Association of Pasadena.

The tract comprises 960 acres adjacent to El Monte, east of Peck Road and north of the Pacific Electric Railroad. The Pasadena organizations are supported in their suggestion by the San Gabriel Valley Development Association and it was stated that other civic bodies will join in approval.

It was submitted that the El Monte site is only twenty-two miles from the Los Angeles postoffice, and is so situated that air traffic would avoid passing over congested districts. The board filed the recommendations.

Mr. Potter visited the testing laboratory of the American Gas Association at Cleveland, O., where a $500,000 institution, built to test and study gas-burning appliances, is maintained.

HEALTHY DE ADVISE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Author of "The Four Year Diet"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions in health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times, before 10 o'clock, Monday through Friday.

CALCIUM STARVATION

Every tissue of the body contains organic calcium, which is also known by the name of lime. The hard tissues such as the osseous or bony structure, and the firm tendons and ligaments contain the largest proportion of this valuable element, but no cell of any other part of the body can live for very long unless calcium is included in its mineral composition.

The blood is predominantly alkaline, and death ensues as soon as this alkaline balance is lost and the blood becoming overcharged with acids. Judging health as 100 per cent, if the blood contains only one-half as much alkali as it should, the health of that individual is deprived of alkaline base is certainly not over 50 per cent of the normal. Calcium stands as the greatest force of this blood supply of alkaline salts.

Efforts are being made by chemists to develop some method of supplying this lime to the tissues through artificial means. Such efforts have so far completely failed and we are forced to fall back upon the natural source so obvious at all times. This natural supply can come only from the use of food which is rich in calcium and which has not been demineralized by too much preparation and changing by food merchants.

Whole grains include calcium in abundance in their chemical composition, but this element, like so many others, is completely lost in the roller-mill process used in making white flour.

Coming to the whole grain to remain in health and give life to their calves. If fed on white flour they become weak and within a few weeks they are dead. The reason for the necessary organic minerals of the whole grain. If the cows are only fed partly on white flour, the blood will be robbed of its calcium units in the cells.

Calcium starved patients cannot digest food properly, as this element is indispensable in making the digestive juices. Without the chemistry of digestion and assimilation cannot take place.

If you have enough calcium in your blood, your wound is healed quickly in the wound; whereas, those known as "bleeders" have evidence of being calcium starved.

The use of over-refined foods of any kind is the direct cause of disease. The blood is robbed of its calcium units in the cells.

Resistance to disease is also made less and less as the alkaline balance of the blood is lost and the blood develops a more acid reaction.

You cannot get your lime out of the rocks as the plants do, but you have always for your use the vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: Mrs. J. M. writes: "Will you please advise me what to do? I have an acid system."

Answer: What you probably mean is that you have hyperacidity of the stomach. This can be cured if you will learn to live on the proper food combinations. Follow the menus suggested in this column, and you will soon notice a change for the better. If you will send me a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope I will be glad to send an article "Healthful Menus" without charge.

Q: Mrs. J. K. asks: "Is the moderate use of condiments very harmful? I find it hard to do without a little sugar or vinegar in preparing meals?"

A: Spices and condiments stimulate the flow of digestive juices, and if they are used at all they should be used at a meal meal. Those who suffer from hyperacidity already have more acid than they need. A little sugar or vinegar in preparing meals is not harmful.

Q: J. H. writes: "My blood examination shows a positive Wassermann. Will you answer me in the paper and tell me what to do?"

A: Your question is not only a subject which cannot be freely discussed in the columns of the daily paper. If you desire such information, you must write a personal letter to me, giving your full name and address, which, of course, will never be published in the paper.

Q: There would not be much sense in my writing you if I am not hungry. If people would eat only when they are hungry, there would be no need of dieting. Appetite and hunger are quite different, but you should at least have an appetite before your meals, or you should wait and eat as many meals as necessary until there is a return of your normal hunger.

Just Jottings

Your broom will last longer if dipped in salt water once a week. Never purchase fruit that has any break in the skin. If not whole and perfect it will rapidly decay.

Attracting the attention of the meat on the various plates is an added duty of the carver. He should leave the platter in an appetizing form for the second helping.

NANCY PAGE

Strawberry Shortcake Like Mother Used to Make

By Florence La Tourette

Nancy knew that Peter was up to something. He had been seen to wipe the dishes, to put his niece Jo-Jo to bed. When he came down stairs he wanted to know whether Nancy would like to have him read to her. She smiled at him tolerantly. "Why don't you tell me what you want, Peter? I'll do it for you if I can." Peter started to deny any ulterior motive, but he gave it up with a grin. "You're too helpful for me, Nancy, and that's a fact. I might just as well tell you that I'm hungry for some old-fashioned strawberry shortcake. Do you feel well enough to make one?" "You'll have it tomorrow night, Peter." And he did.

NO ABSOLUTE RULES FOR TEETHING

Mrs. J. D. writes: "My 7 1/2-months old baby has eight teeth. I am wondering why he should have so many teeth when the babies of some of my friends have none at all at this age. Will you answer this?"

Answer: I am afraid there is no very satisfactory answer to the question. Precociousness cannot always be assigned a reason. Hereditary factors may be at work, and you may find by investigation that you and your husband both, and perhaps other children in your family were early teething. Late teething may in some cases also be traced to heredity. Of course, in the case of early teething there is nothing to worry about, and the about what may be wrong with his diet.

Your baby is an unusually good weight, and the number of teeth he has is solely due to his splendid state of nutrition. As any plant which has the maximum of nutriment and sunshine, may be ahead of a growth which is lacking these, your baby would travel faster, and develop more quickly than normally.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

Nancy followed her old rule. She put the berries in a colander, let the water run over them gently. Then she picked them over, and sugared them, using 6 tablespoonfuls sugar for 2 cups berries.

While these were standing she sifted and measured 2 cups flour, added 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 teaspoon baking powder. Into this she worked 4 tablespoonfuls shortening. When well mixed she added 1 cup milk to which 1 beaten egg was added. This mixture was stirred lightly and patted out on a floured pastry board. She cut rounds 3 inches in diameter. These were placed on baking sheet, brushed with melted butter and covered with a second round. They baked in a hot oven. When done they were split open, bottom round was covered with sweetened berries, top put back on and covered with berries. These shortcakes were served with cream.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

THOSE THAT ARE SPARED

"Why, oh why, should I be alive, while the Lord has taken the rest?" an old man was sobbing as he performed the sad rites of identifying his dead after the great flood calamity when the St. Francis Dam broke.

He was nearing 70, but his dead included his married daughter and her four children, one just a tiny baby. "I have lived my life, I could have been spared better. Why have I of all of them been spared?" he kept saying over and over.

Then there was the automobile accident. John, his wife and two small boys had taken old grandma for a ride to the beach. Grandma was quite old, very feeble, almost helpless. But the whole family was wiped out when the car collided with a street car at a grade crossing—except grandma. Poor old grandma, whose means of support has now gone, too, who can only hope to spend her last days in some institution. What special Providence saved grandma, and why?

And there in the old ladies' home there are dozens of grandmas who are wondering why they should have been permitted to survive long after all their progeny are dead. One sees them out at the County Farm, too, where so many poor old souls end their days, without a relative left in the world. The World War took over several of their sons and grandsons—the young men, "says the young men, while these old people live on in dependent poverty. Again there was Myrabelle, the spinster daughter, who had stayed at home caring for mother. When Myrabelle was 38 and mother 72, daughter devoted all her thought, consideration, service to mother. Myrabelle never complained, but we all knew that her life was a living sacrifice to this old mother of hers.

When mother got pneumonia, it was very expensive—a trained nurse, doctors' bills, and Myrabelle taking the night duty as well as trying to fill mother's pathetic demands upon her during the day. No one noticed how sick Myrabelle was becoming. It was quite a shock when she came down with pneumonia and just quietly died within a few days. But mother got well and has now become dependent upon her married son, whose task is thereby made twice as difficult.

Or again there is the old English Earl whose three sons were killed in the war. No one to inherit his title, except his own old younger brother who never married. "Why did the Lord spare a couple of senile old sinners like us?" he asks bitterly as he mourns his three soldier sons.

The ways of Providence are inscrutable. We cannot fathom the mystery. Many of these old people are themselves awed, wondering for what special purpose they can have been spared.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Get This Down
Toothpaste will clean tarnished French jewelry.
Use dry silver polish to brighten up the brass bed.
A small towel rack will make an excellent sockie holder and can be nailed inside a closet door out of sight.
About half a cupful of vinegar in the rinse water when next you wash your hair will make it lovely and soft and give it an attractive sheen.
Don't be alarmed if you break the metal top of your thermos jug. If you cannot buy a duplicate, a tightly fitting cork will answer the same purpose.

Jelly Testing

Before we start our summer preserving it might be well to mention how to tell when jelly has cooked enough. Some jellies will suddenly coil up to the top of the kettle when they have reached this point, but as this is not true of all fruits, it is well to use the saucer test: put a tablespoonful of the hot liquid on a small dish and then place the dish directly on the ice. If in five minutes the syrup is firm and jelled, your jelly is done. But if it runs while so cold the jelly requires more cooking.

Careful Buying

When purchasing a saucepan be sure that it has an indentation or "lip" for pouring. The perfectly round saucepan can be most aggravating when trying to pour liquids into smaller vessels.

If It Sticks

Sometimes a table pad is not satisfactory and leaves lint sticking to the surface of the table. If this should occur, cover one side of the pad with thin muslin and keep that side toward the wood.

Onderdonk Art to Be Shown in Kievits Gallery

Paintings of Texas landscapes and wild flowers by the late Julian Onderdonk of San Antonio, favorite artist of the Lone Star State, form an unusually interesting exhibit at the Kievits Art Galleries in the Vista del Arroyo Hotel, Pasadena, opening today for two weeks.

The pictures were brought here by the painter's widow, Onderdonk having died in 1922, in which year his masterpiece, "Dawn in the Hills" was hung in the National Academy. Julian Onderdonk was a pupil of his father, R. J. Onderdonk, himself a well-known painter of Texas scenes. He studied also with William Chase, Robert Henri and Frank DuPont in New York.

Legs Identify Woman Bandit; Pair Get Life

Willard Hudson and his wife, Nora "Peggy" Hudson, the "girl with the unforgettable face," were sentenced to serve from seven years to life in the State penitentiary yesterday by Judge Wilson, before whom they pleaded guilty to first-degree robbery. They were accused of robbing Charles Anderson, proprietor of the Red Onion Cafe, of $601 last month.

Anderson had testified at the preliminary hearing that he might not be able to identify the faces of the bandits, but that he never could forget the legs of the woman. The defense apparently felt the same way about it, with the resulting plea of guilty entered when the case came up in Superior Court.

Beads of Soap banish washday drudgery

New Discovery
Washes Clothes
WHITER
with far less work

THIS offers you a way to wash clothes that's faster... easier... better than any you've ever known before.

A way that banishes, once and for all, the hardest part of washday drudgery.

A way that does away with rubbing and scrubbing. That saves rinsing. Gets clothes on the line in less time with much less work. It is a complete new laundry method. The result of a revolutionary new soap discovery.

This remarkable new soap is called Super Suds. It is made in tiny thin-walled "beads" by an exclusive patented process.

First bar soap—then chips—now Super Suds

Years ago women had to rub bar soap on clothes. How hard they had to scrub in order to get a soap solution. How hard it was to rinse those clinging soap particles away.

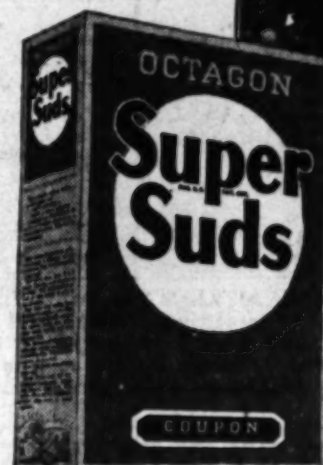

Next came chips... Many women changed to this form of soap because it could be stirred into a cleansing solution.

But clothes and dishes had to be rinsed too much in order to get rid of the undissolved soap.

Now comes Super Suds, and women are changing to it by thousands in preference to all other forms of soap.

Super Suds is not a chip... not a powder... but a remarkable new form of soap in tiny hollow "beads" so thin that they burst into suds the instant they touch water.

Look for the big red box at your grocer's

Four times as thin as chips, Super Suds is the thinnest soap made.

In this new soap women have discovered two distinct advantages.

Why Super Suds is better

First, Super Suds is so thin it dissolves instantly—saves time and trouble. Second, Super Suds dissolves completely—no undissolved soap to leave spots on clothes or film on dishes. It does the work faster and better than any other form of soap.

Just pour Super Suds into your washbasin. Quick as a flash you get rich, active suds.

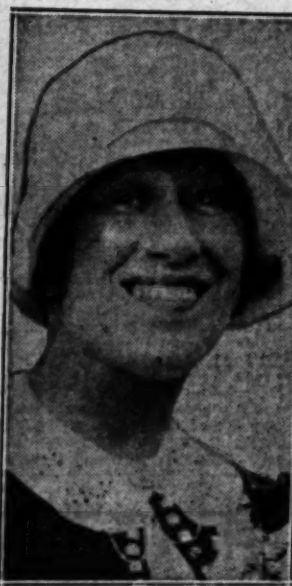

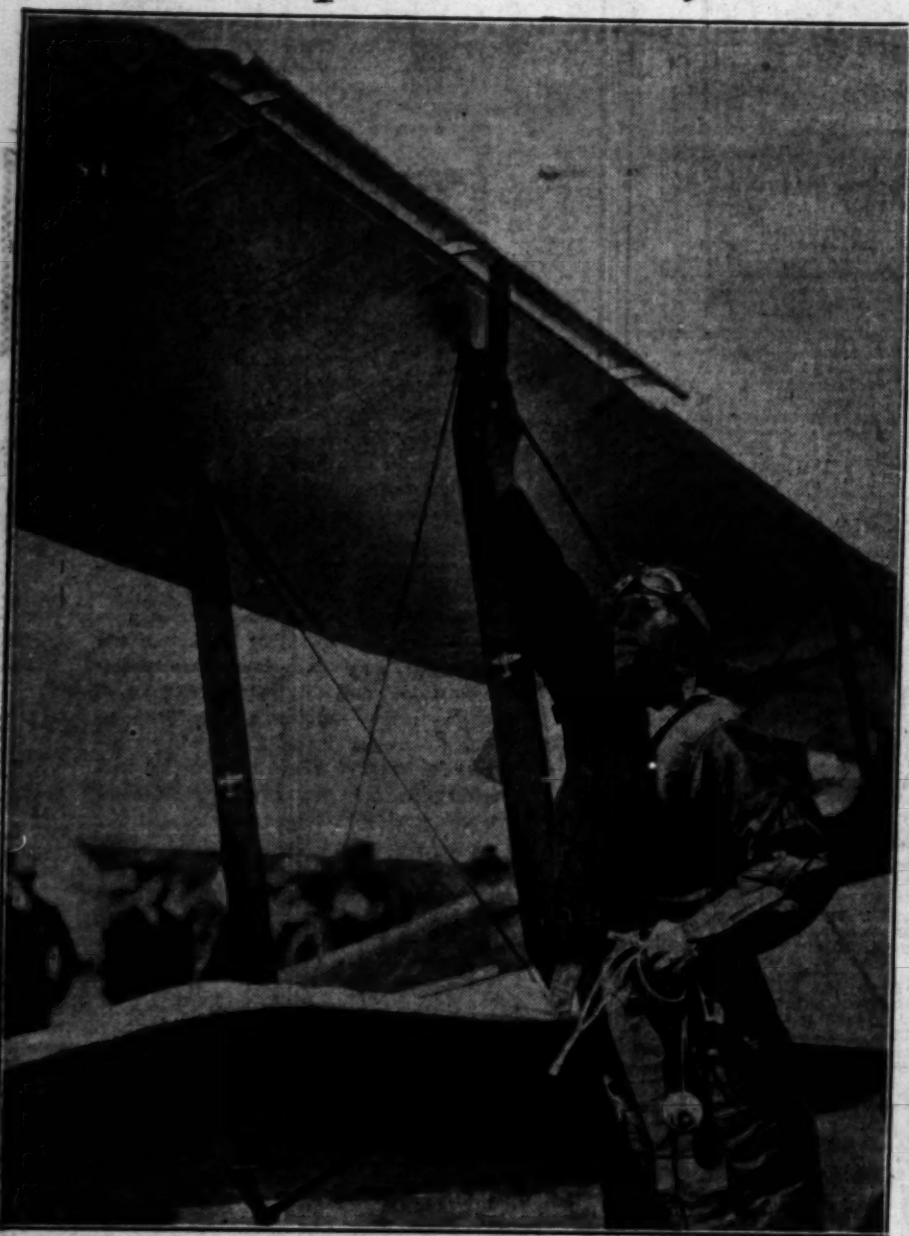

New way to wash dishes

Super Suds makes china, silver and glassware sparkle like diamonds. Just give them a quick, hot rinse and let them drain and dry by themselves. No need ever to use a towel... And it's the biggest ten-cent box of soap on the market, so you can afford to use it lavishly. Try a box today!

An Octagon Soap Product. Every box of Super Suds carries a coupon. Save them for valuable premiums.

A PATENTED PROCESS. Super Suds is made by a process covered by exclusive patents. (Product, process and apparatus covered by U. S. ORANGE BISCUITS
S. H. N. Burbank, Cal. Place in a small saucepan two tablespoons of butter, four tablespoons of sugar, two tablespoons of orange juice, and three tablespoons of grated orange rind, stir and cook slowly until thick and smooth. Stir two cups of sifted flour with one teaspoonful of salt, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder; rub into this mixture, four tablespoonfuls of butter, and when like coarse meal, stir in slowly three-quarters of a cupful of cold milk and work to a smooth dough. Place on a floured board, flatten out in an oblong strip, half an inch in thickness and spread with the orange filling. Roll up like a jelly roll, cut in three-quarter-inch slices, place close together in a biscuit pan that has been rubbed with butter, brush the top with melted butter and bake fifteen minutes in a moderate oven.

FRESH STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE
O. C. P., Los Angeles, Cal. Roll pie paste to one-fourth of an inch in thickness; place in a pie pan, brush with the beaten white of an egg and prick with a fork. Cut two circles the same size as the bottom of the pie shell, remove the center from one of the pieces, leaving a ring about one and a quarter inches wide. Prick the pieces and bake in a hot oven. Put the shell and one piece of the pastry together with a cream filling, adjust the rim and fill the space with strawberries which have been washed, hulled and sprinkled with sugar and allowed to stand in a warm place. Garnish with whole berries.

CREAM FILLING
Put one-fourth of a cupful of sugar in a saucepan and stir constantly until melted and the color of maple syrup; add caramel to one and a half cupfuls of scalded milk and when dissolved add one-half a cupful of sugar, mixed with one-third of a cupful of flour. Cook in a double-boiler twenty minutes, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Then slowly add the beaten yolk of one egg and a half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

ORANGE CUPS
One tablespoonful of gelatine, two tablespoonfuls of cold water, three oranges, one cupful of chopped seeded raisins, one-half a cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two egg yolks, two stiffly beaten egg whites, three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, half a cupful of whipped cream. Soften the gelatine in the cold water, cut the oranges in halves, add the raisins and sugar to the orange pulp and juice and cook slowly until thick and syrupy, about twenty minutes. Chill, beat the milk, pour slowly onto the beaten egg yolks and cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens. Add the gelatine and stir until dissolved; cool and stir into the chilled raisins, mix the egg whites with the powdered sugar and fold into the mixture, pour into the sherbet glasses and set in the ice box until firm. Serve with whipped cream.

FROZEN FRUIT IN RICE BORDER
One cupful of rice, two cupfuls of milk, six tablespoonfuls of sugar, one lemon, one cupful of whipped cream; wash the rice and cover it with cold water, bring to the boiling point, drain, rinse well in cold water, then put into a double boiler with the milk, sugar and lemon rind. Cook until the rice is tender, then remove the lemon rind and when cool add the whipped cream. Turn into a wet ring mold and place in the ice box. Turn out on a serving dish and fill the center with halves of peaches. Make a custard of the peach juice and pour over or serve with whipped cream.

CHEESE AND SPINACH ROLL
Cook four bunches of spinach, drain and pour over them two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Chop fine and add one cupful of grated cheese, add enough bread crumbs to make sufficiently stiff to form a roll. Add two well-beaten eggs, season with salt and paprika, place in a moderate oven and bake for twenty minutes, basting occasionally with a little butter.

REDLANDS, May 14.—Newton B. Woodville, wealthy broker of San Francisco, who was instantly killed yesterday in a fall from a tree at Forest Home, mountain resort in Mill Creek Canyon near here, met an accidental death, according to a jury which investigated his death here today under the direction of Deputy Coroner E. J. Waters.

Two witnesses were called. One of these was Winfield Bogue, who works at Forest Home resort. Bogue said that he was walking down the road from the resort office with L. Douglas when they saw the man standing under a tree. "Come here, boys," he said, and when they complied he pointed to a limb of a tree and said, "If you can't jump up and catch that."

The witnesses said they saw him sitting on the limb of the tree. "If you can do it, I can," said the man, who was Woodville, and he jumped. But he missed and fell head first. "I'll do it yet," he said, and grunted his teeth. The boys said they urged him not to try, as he might get hurt, and when he fell they heard a scrambling and Woodville called them back and said, "I made it."

Man Sought
in Stabbing

AZUSA, May 14.—Search is being made for Pete Lago, 21-year-old Mexican, who is charged with stabbing Frank Alvarado, 18 years of age, during a fight Saturday night according to Constable W. I. Hamilton.

Lago knifed Alvarado in a fit of jealousy over a girl, and escaped in his car when he thought Alvarado dead, Hamilton said.

Alvarado was stabbed in his left side and though seriously injured he will live, according to physicians.

Alvarado probably would have been killed had he not been wearing a heavy leather belt which prevented the sharp knife from penetrating its full length into his side, Hamilton said.

BELL SETS LOW MARK
FOR LOSSES IN FIRE

BELL, May 14.—This city has a right to be proud of its fire record since incorporation of November 7, last, when out of twenty-five fire calls, the property loss has been only $87, according to a report given out by Fire Chief J. H. Garret.

This may be a national record for an incorporated city in the minimum, the Chief said. Mr. Garret reports that there were fourteen grass fires and twelve structural fires.

Pasadena Engineer Declares Proposed Scheme to Make Crossings Safer Only Temporary

PASADENA, May 14.—No material increase in protection of motorists will result from the recommendations of a committee which has spent several weeks in studying the grade-crossing menace in this city, Warren C. Earle, City Engineer, informed the Board of City Directors today.

"My own personal views are that recommendations that another conference be held, at which time another committee might be appointed to reach an ultimate solution of the grade-crossing problem. Among the recommendations which are branded as futile expedients are:

Man Tumbles Forty-five Feet

PASADENA, May 14.—An eye infection, said by his relatives to have been caused by suffusion of his eyes with blood when he stood on his head in the Pasadena high school gymnasium last week, resulted today in the death of Elwood F. Cronk, high school senior, who would have been graduated in June.

The physician who was here fighting for five days to save his life did not accept the family's theory that too strenuous exercise in the gymnasium was directly responsible for the youth's death, but are of the opinion that the eye infection developed after Cronk rubbed his eyes with his hands. They admit that if the boy stood on his head before rubbing his eyes, the danger of infection would have been increased.

Cronk has been a student in the local high school four years. He was active in track and gymnasium athletics. His death occurred in the Pasadena hospital where blood transfusions are reported to have proved unavailing.

The physician was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cronk of 4648 South Huntington Drive. He leaves a sister, Alberta Cronk, and a grandmother, Anna Cronk, both of the Pasadena area. Cronk's father lives in Long Beach.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale. Six of his former schoolmates will act as pallbearers. No inquest will be held, it was said.

Man Tumbles Forty-five Feet

SANTA ANA, May 14.—Routine business matters were disposed of in record time this morning at the first business session of the twenty-fifth annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans, California Department, and numerous resolutions were passed.

The 2000 veterans and members of the camp auxiliaries who are in San Diego for the gathering met for the first time last night at the American Legion Building in Bona Vista Park. At that time the visitors were welcomed to the city and memorial services for departed members were held.

Gen. Robert Wankowski of San Diego, national chief of staff of the organization, was indorsed for commander-in-chief today when the Court of Appeal filed its opinion affirming a Superior Court decision, ordering that the recall election date be set.

Attorneys Roland Thompson and Charles D. Swanner, representing anti-administration forces, recently applied to Superior Court for a writ of mandamus, directing the Seal Beach Council to recognize a recall petition and fix a date for the election. The Council, however, had refused to act, though the City Clerk, Mrs. Ollie B. Badrick, had certified the petition as sufficiently signed.

Superior Judge E. J. Marks heard the petition and decided in favor of the petitioners. When Constable E. W. Reed of Seal Beach, served the court's order on Mayor R. E. Dolley, he was threatened with a hammer by Dolley, he alleged in a criminal complaint filed against the Mayor.

City Attorney Burr Brown, representing the majority Councilmen, Wheeler, Hooley and John, appealed the court's decision.

The appellate court decision will become final within thirty days, unless the City Attorney seeks for the State Supreme Court within that time. If no rehearing is had, and the appellate court decision becomes final, an amended writ of mandate will be sought from the Superior Court and served upon the Seal Beach Council, forcing immediate action, according to Swanner and Thompson.

Retired School
Teachers Urged

MONROVIA, May 14.—Declaring that the present State teachers' retirement-salary law is inadequate and not in accord with progressive business ideals, Miss Grace Osborn, before an assembly of high-school teachers today, suggested that a law be enacted providing for a pension plan for retired teachers.

According to Miss Osborn, who has been making an investigation into the pension plan for retired teachers, the law now in effect provides for a pension of $44,000 from the Superior Court today, for property owners on White Oak whose property is being taken for the project.

Final judgment was received from the court last week and the city now owns sixteen feet of property on either side of the boulevard. Property owners whose buildings or houses must be moved back, have sixty days in which to complete the work. Checks will be given to the property owners as soon as they sign a satisfactory statement, according to G. H. Duell, deputy city engineer.

COURT ORDERS RECALL VOTE

Seal Beach Ouster Sponsors
Win Appeal Decision

Man Tumbles Forty-five Feet

SANTA ANA, May 14.—Supporters of a recall movement directed against Mayor R. E. Dolley and Councilmen C. O. Wheat and J. R. John of this city, gained another victory today when the Court of Appeal filed its opinion affirming a Superior Court decision, ordering that the recall election date be set.

Attorneys Roland Thompson and Charles D. Swanner, representing anti-administration forces, recently applied to Superior Court for a writ of mandamus, directing the Seal Beach Council to recognize a recall petition and fix a date for the election. The Council, however, had refused to act, though the City Clerk, Mrs. Ollie B. Badrick, had certified the petition as sufficiently signed.

Superior Judge E. J. Marks heard the petition and decided in favor of the petitioners. When Constable E. W. Reed of Seal Beach, served the court's order on Mayor R. E. Dolley, he was threatened with a hammer by Dolley, he alleged in a criminal complaint filed against the Mayor.

City Attorney Burr Brown, representing the majority Councilmen, Wheeler, Hooley and John, appealed the court's decision.

The appellate court decision will become final within thirty days, unless the City Attorney seeks for the State Supreme Court within that time. If no rehearing is had, and the appellate court decision becomes final, an amended writ of mandate will be sought from the Superior Court and served upon the Seal Beach Council, forcing immediate action, according to Swanner and Thompson.

GLENDALF, May 14.—Posting as a representative of the Southern Pacific Railroad, a man who gave the name of Frank Woodward and his address as Oakland, attempted to negotiate the purchase of two cars, that he ordered delivered to the railway company, with checks that are asserted to be fraudulent. He is also said to have demanded a generous cash commission on the deal for himself.

One of the checks was for $5000 and the other for $4500, but the fact that they were not made out on the regular stationery used by the Southern Pacific aroused the suspicion of the officers of the Glendale Motor Car Corporation, who communicated with the Glendale Merchants' Association and set the machinery in motion for the arrest of Woodward.

The suspect was arrested in the agency of Neuschaeffer & Ricketts, where he had tossed a $4500 check on the table with a demand for a commission on the car he planned to buy. After his arrest by Detective Lieutenant Charles F. Blake, Detective Sergeant F. C. Williams and Detective J. W. Brown, Woodward was identified, police report, as O. E. McCanto, an escaped convict from Florida, where he was sentenced to the State prison at Tallahassee on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

It is provided by the Railroad Commission opinion stated that the need of such a spur is not apparent, but that it is nevertheless permitted. Application for the spur construction was believed to be a result of the health department's action in blocking the use of present sidings at Olive for the unloading of fertilizer.
